NEYLAND

Tennessee has led the SEC in attendance in each of the last 33 seasons.

Tennessee's home crowds have ranked among the top three in NCAA attendance for a remarkable 31 consecutive seasons.

"It's static noise. You can't hear anything. You go up and down the line, your wide receivers, your running backs, your tight ends, nobody can hear. Nobody."
— California quarterback Nate Longshore, 2006

"Neyland Stadium is pretty doggone special. It's awe-inspiring. There's simply nothing like it when you have the mist rising over the Smoky Mountains and the flags flying over the Vol Navy. It's an incredible experience."
— ESPN analyst Dr. Jerry Punch, 2006

STADIUM

"That's the greatest stadium I've ever been in. I used to think the Coliseum in Los Angeles was, but that Tennessee stadium – there's just something different about it. Just the aura around it. I always thought Tennessee fans were classy. It's just a first-rate place and it's been sold out every time I've been in it. I believe it's one of those places in college football where you say, 'It's one of the key bench marks of what college football is supposed to be.'"
— Neyland Award winner and former Southern Cal and UNLV head coach John Robinson, 2007

103.7 – The capacity percentage to which Tennessee packed Neyland Stadium for its seven home games last year. The Vols' total attendance in 2006 was 740,521 for an average of 105,789 fans per game.

88.6 – Tennessee's red-zone scoring percentage in 2006. The Big Orange led the SEC in red-zone offense, scoring on 39 of 44 trips. And talk about delivering in big-time situations, the Vols also led the SEC with 126 fourth-quarter points last year (for an SEC-best fourth-quarter scoring margin of +58).

WINNING

75 – The number of winning home seasons the Vols have enjoyed at Neyland Stadium. That includes 35 years in which Tennessee was unbeaten at home.

30 - Offensive guru David Cutcliffe's magic number. His Tennessee offenses have scored at least 30 points in more than 60 percent of their games. And when Cutcliffe's units do score 30, they win more than 96 percent of the time.

13 – The number of shutouts Tennessee has posted since 1992 (no other SEC team has more). The Volunteers' defensive units under John Chavis have come to be known as some of the fastest, fiercest and hardest-hitting in the nation. Tennessee has ranked among the top three in the SEC in total defense eight times under Chavis.

3 – Consecutive seasons in which Tennessee has had multiple defenders rank among the top-10 tacklers in the SEC.

1 – Where Phillip Fulmer's .770 career winning percentage ranks among active Division I head coaches with at least 10 years on the job.

POUNDS OF WEIGHTS

- Johnny Long and his strength coaches have individualized workouts to maximize the potential of every player.
- Evidence of their success — Volunteers in the NFL continue to return to Knoxville to train in the offseason with Coach Long.

FACTS ABOUT UT STRENGTH & CONDITIONING:

- 17,000-square foot facility
- Olympic-based lifting regimen with more than 10 platforms
- Yoga, speed training and karate are incorporated
- 50-yard sand pit called "Stucky Beach" named in honor of former strength coach John Stucky, who died in April.

COMMITMENT

Tennessee has had five student-athletes named National Strength & Conditioning Foundation All-America Lifters of the Year: Kevin Burnett, Parys Haralson, Michael Munoz, Chuck Prugh, Kevin Simon

"It's amazing what a group of individuals can accomplish when no one cares who gets the credit."

THE BEST OF THE

- The SEC has the most extensive national television package in the nation, with at least two games each weekend on national television (cable and network). CBS Sports provides a national network television game each week, while ESPN/ESPN2 provides a national cable television game each week. The SEC's syndicated regional package with Lincoln Financial Sports is the most-watched of its type in the nation.

- The SEC had 266 of its former football student-athletes on 2006 NFL opening-weekend rosters, more than any other conference in the nation (and Tennessee led all SEC schools with 40).

- Since 2000, the SEC has more bowl appearances (52) and bowl wins (29) than any other conference.

- During the last four years, the SEC has had more student-athletes honored as CoSIDA/ESPN The Magazine Academic All-Americas than any other conference. The league has had 136 student-athletes named CoSIDA/ESPN The Magazine Academic All-Americas, including 63 named to the first team.

- Since the SEC expanded to 12 teams in 1992, Tennessee boasts the league's best inter-division record. The Vols have won 72.2 percent of their games against SEC Western Division teams, and UT is the only team with an inter-division winning percentage above .700.

"There are 20 big games (in the SEC) every year. There are two, three, four in every other conference. Then you factor in the historical importance, the talent level and the intensity of fans. It's the best conference. I say that in all humbleness, because I don't deserve to tell SEC people how good it is."

— CBS analyst and former Big 10 quarterback Gary Danielson, 2006

- At least one former Vol has played in each of the last 15 Super Bowls (and 19 of the last 20). Two-time league MVP and reigning Super Bowl MVP Peyton Manning led the Indianapolis Colts to victory in Super Bowl XLI last season.

- In 2006 alone, former Tennessee Vols accounted for 71 total NFL touchdowns (more than every NFL team). And 24 of the NFL's 32 teams had at least one Vol on their roster last season.

THE EXPRESSWAY TO THE NFL... RUNS ROCKY

- As of July 1, 2007, there were enough former Vols under contract in the NFL at the right positions to field a complete offense and defense, as well as a punter and placekicker.

- Tennessee's five first-day (rounds 1-3) picks in the 2007 NFL Draft were the most of any school in the nation. Since 2000, UT has produced 27 first-day picks and eight first-round selections.

- Tennessee ranked third nationally and led the SEC with 40 players on 2006 Opening Day NFL rosters. It marked the second year in a row that the Vols led the SEC in opening-day NFL roster spots.

FAMILY

James Mitchell, known simply as "Mitch" around the hallways at Tennessee, is the team chaplain for the Volunteers.

But his impact is over so many more things for the Tennessee players. "Mitch" spent 13 years coaching college football at a number of schools, including Arkansas and Tennessee State. Aside from the love of football he has, he realized he had a greater love for seeing young men succeed at life.

While coaching, "Mitch" discovered he had a passion for motivating young people to discover their strengths and use them to make their dreams come true. After a brief stint as National Director for Pro Athletes Outreach, where he worked with the NFL and major league baseball, "Mitch" joined the Tennessee staff.

Whether it is a hug on the neck, a kick-start or just listening, "Mitch" has made a difference in the players' lives while helping mold them into well-rounded players and, more importantly, good men. Mitch leads a weekly chapel with the football and basketball teams, conducts a summer bible study for the football team, does a weekly devotional with the football staff and both basketball staffs, and provides one-on-one counseling with athletes when needed.

"I believe he is a father figure, a dad away from home. It's a blessing to have a man of God we can turn to for guidance and love. But, ultimately, he's an inspiration for the entire University of Tennessee."

— Jesse Mahelona, All-America defensive tackle and current member of the Tennessee Titans, on James Mitchell

"The thing I can tell you is at Tennessee, they will treat your son with class."

— Archie Manning, father of Peyton Manning

"I came to Tennessee because on my visit, I could tell how close, like a family, everyone was. I saw that I could grow to become a great person and receiver here."

— Robert Meachem, former Tennessee wide receiver and 2007 NFL first-round draft pick

James Mitchell, Team Chaplain

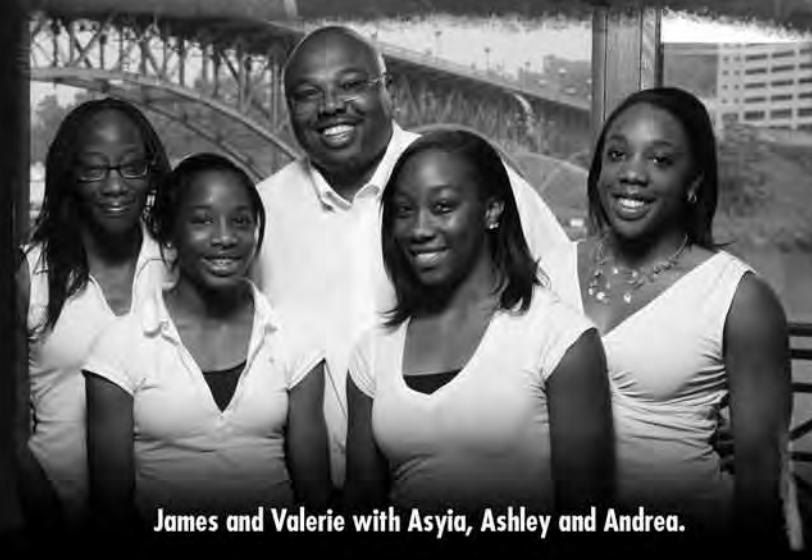
MATTERS IN BIG ORANGE COUNTRY

Tennessee's 2007 roster includes its trademark national flavor, with players from 23 states and the District of Columbia.



James and Valerie with Asyia, Ashley and Andrea.

"Community service is an earned privilege for Tennessee athletes, gained through hard work in the classroom and on the playing field. None of the players are forced to go into the community, but the Volunteers have decided to make it a tradition here at Tennessee. Every single player ventures into the community at one time or another. Although many players have not chosen to be role models, they have earned their status nonetheless through their accomplishments. We consider it an extremely important part of the student-athlete's development as he grows and matures into a future businessman, father and member of the community."

– Judy Jackson

NOTHING

Judy Jackson is no stranger to the lives and activities of the college athlete. "Ms. J" served the University first in the college of education from 1978 until 1992, then spent 11 years as the athletics department's assistant and then associate director of student life.

She moved into her current post as Associate Director of Student-Athlete Welfare four years ago, making her a full-time football staffer.

A mother away from home, Judy coordinates all the Volunteers' community service outings. But more than that, she provides a voice and face that the players feel comfortable going to and taking advice from. Judy is quick to give a kind word or, if needed, a gentle lecture in order to make sure the players make the right decisions.

Judy is the mother of two and has five grandchildren, but she really has about 130 children that pass through the halls of the Neyland-Thompson Sports Center every day.

She was made an honorary UT Letterman in 2001, and Judy has a scholarship in her name at the University of Tennessee, started in 2002 by former Vol defensive tackle and current Tennessee Titan Albert Haynesworth as a special "thank you" for all her work.

"Most universities stand content to dust off yellowed newspaper clippings and extol the virtues of a legendary coach of yesteryear. But stadiums, legends and dreams grow bigger in the Volunteer State. Tennessee's storied line of coaches could more than fill a Rocky Top Mount Rushmore. These coaches own the most familiar faces in Tennessee's football history. Built with broad shoulders, they must carry the heavy burden of expectations mustered by a passionate Volunteer Nation. Those coaches who attain legend status must possess a jaw hewn of Tennessee marble, prized for their innate ability to absorb a blow and stand steadfast in the swirling winds of adversity. In the Southeastern Conference, football feuds grow like kudzu, fertilized by coaches, the patron saints of bragging rights down South."

University of Tennessee football fans are justifiably proud of the national football championships won by the Volunteers football teams in 1951 and 1998. But whether they know it or not, they have reason to be even prouder.

Make that four reasons. In fact, Tennessee teams were also awarded national titles by recognized rankings systems for the seasons of 1938, 1940, 1950 and 1967. History has largely overlooked those great teams, mainly because they were not ranked first by the best-known ratings systems, which were the Associated Press poll in 1951 and the Bowl Championship Series in 1998.

CHAMPIONSHIP

The years of 1938, 1939 and 1940 formed the richest gridiron era in UT history. The 1938 team was awarded the national title by no fewer than seven recognized ratings entities, including the highly regarded Dunkel System (which, as its current managers like to boast, is older than the AP poll). Oddly, the 1939 team – the last team in college football history to complete a regular season unbeaten, untied and unscored-on – was passed over by all the ranking systems. In 1940, the last of the three perfect record years of the era, UT was awarded the national crown by two ratings systems, including the Dunkel group.

Robert R. Neyland's 1950 team lost an early game to Mississippi State but went on to fashion a 10-1 regular season record. Six separate systems proclaimed those Vols national champions.

And, of course, in 1951 Tennessee was the overwhelming choice, and for the first time, the school won the Associated Press' No. 1 ranking.

In 1967, coach Doug Dickey's team posted a 9-1 season record and was recognized as national champ by the Litkenhous ratings, one of the oldest of all the ratings systems.

By 1998 the Bowl Championship Series format had been put in place, and Tennessee's win over Florida State in the Fiesta Bowl won Phillip Fulmer's team an undisputed title.

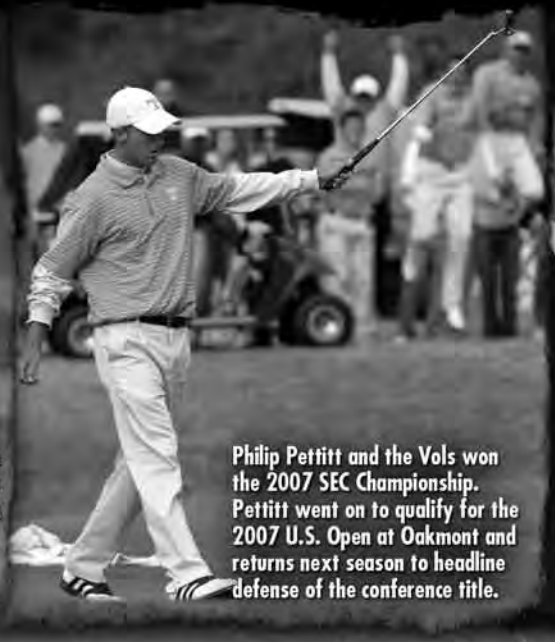
- Tennessee is the only Division I school ever to rank in the top five nationally in attendance for football, men's basketball and women's basketball in the same season. The Vols turned the trick in 2006-07 for the fourth time.
- The UT men's basketball team's 22 SEC wins over the last two seasons are the second-most in the conference over that period. The Vols have finished with the second-best record in the entire SEC in both of Bruce Pearl's two years at Tennessee and advanced all the way to the Sweet 16 in 2007.
- Lady Vols coach Pat Summitt guided Tennessee to its seventh national championship during her illustrious tenure last season. Summitt was the first basketball coach in NCAA history to win 900 games and owns a 947-180 mark over 33 seasons.
- Tennessee is one of just two programs to have played in all 26 NCAA women's basketball tournaments. The Lady Vols are the only team to have advanced to the Sweet 16 all 26 years.
- Both the men's and women's track and field programs have won national championships since 2001. The women won the 2007 SEC Indoor title, while the men claimed the 2007 SEC Outdoor crown.
- Tennessee's softball team has advanced to the Women's College World Series each of the last three seasons and finished third or better each time, including a national runner-up finish in 2007.
- The Volunteers baseball team made its fourth all-time appearance in the College World Series in 2005 and has produced nine All-America or Freshman All-America honorees in the last three seasons.
- The UT men's golf team won the 2007 SEC Championship and advanced to the NCAA Championships for the 11th time in program history.

Leonard Scott won the 60-meter title at the 2006 World Indoor Championships in Moscow. Scott was a two- sport standout in football and track at Tennessee from 1999-2002.

Pat Summitt coached the Lady Vols to the school's seventh national championship in 2007. Her career record stands at 947-180 over 33 seasons.

Monica Abbott completed her career as the NCAA leader in wins, strikeouts, shutouts, appearances and innings pitched. She won the prestigious USA Softball National Player of the Year and SEC Female Athlete of the Year to cap her 50-5 senior campaign in 2007.



Philip Pettitt and the Vols won the 2007 SEC Championship. Pettitt went on to qualify for the 2007 U.S. Open at Oakmont and returns next season to headline defense of the conference title.

Luke Hochevar won the 2005 Roger Clemens National Pitcher of the Year Award and was the No. 1 overall pick in the 2006 MLB draft by the Kansas City Royals.

The University of Tennessee takes winning on the field and in the classroom very seriously. UT has had more than its share of student-athletes earn the opportunity to play professional football and is proud of that. But the goal is that every one of UT's men earns a college degree. Even the most successful professional athletes need their degree, because being finished in football by their early 30s means most guys have more than 40-50 years to live and remain active. In addition, the NFL's statistics show those players with college degrees made more money while playing and had longer pro careers.

The Volunteer football program stands by its student-athletes even after their playing days are over. The Renewing Academic Commitment – or RAC Program – was started to help former student-athletes who did not graduate during their athletic eligibility have a chance to come back and finish their degrees. Many colleges do not have the commitment or resources to offer such an opportunity to former players. The Thornton Center stands behind its goal of trying to help every student-athlete earn a degree. Within the last three years, 17 former football student-athletes in the RAC Program graduated. Several of those individuals left for professional football and returned after their careers were over.

Tennessee Football is about much more than just wins and losses on the field. Wins and losses in the classroom are taken very seriously as well. UT is a top academic institution that offers more than 100 degree programs in numerous fields. Visit the campus in person to see first-hand what a great university UT has to offer academically, as well as see how the academic support programs for student-athletes are among the nation's best.

ACADEMIC HIGHLIGHTS

- For the second straight year, Tennessee led the way in the classroom among Southeastern Conference members with 25 football student-athletes earning positions on the Fall 2006 SEC Academic Honor Roll. That increased to 97 the number of UT football student-athletes who have been selected for the conference academic honor over the last four years.
- The Volunteers have had 239 SEC Academic Honor Roll selections under Phillip Fulmer since 1993, with an average of 17 each year.
- Eight Vol football players have been named first team ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America.
- The University of Tennessee has students from all 50 states and more than 95 different countries.
- Seven Tennessee footballers enter the 2007 season already having earned their college degrees: Brad Cottam, Stephen Darville, Michael Frogg, Antonio Gaines, Steven Jones, Casey Woods and Eric Young.
- Since 1997, Tennessee stands as the only football program to have two players earn the prestigious Draddy Award, courtesy of Peyton Manning in 1997 and Michael Munoz in 2004. The Draddy often is referred to as the "Academic Heisman."

Caroline Howell and Josh Briscoe were among the presenters at the Volscars, the inaugural awards show put on by the UT Student-Athlete Advisory Committee and Thornton Center staff.

UNIVERSITY OF TENNESSEE

The University of Tennessee buzzes with energy, ideas, and optimism.

The campus and its signature "Hill" lure students with green space, nearby lakes, and vistas of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park.

VOLS' STATUS
SOMETHING TO ENJOY

Tennessee fans, accustomed to the attention bestowed nationally on the school's football program, welcomed an announcement last spring that re-enforced their confidence that the future is rosy for Phillip Fulmer's Vols.

The boost came in the form of a media blurb from ABC-TV that the network's kickoff for 2007, on the first Saturday of regular-season competition, will involve the Vols facing an early challenge 2,140 air miles away from the comfort zone they enjoy at Neyland Stadium.

The announcement underscored Tennessee's position as a viable candidate any time the TV networks comb the record books and look over team prospects to find a prime time attraction to usher in the season. We sort of take that kind of thing for granted, but we probably shouldn't.

Sitting in their living rooms the night of Sept. 1, the nation's football fans will be treated to a battle featuring projected championship contenders from the Southeastern Conference and the Pac-10.

Both looking to earn early support for a position among the nation's top 10, the Vols and the California Golden Bears will inaugurate the 2007 campaign at 8 o'clock Eastern time at Memorial Stadium in Berkeley. ABC's choice for its Saturday night marquee event lends fresh underpinning to Tennessee's status as an established collegiate power, rich in football tradition.

The Vols have a long history of TV appearances as mainstream and sports networks introduce a new season to football-starved viewers in August and September. Last year the Vols and Golden Bears, playing in Knoxville, kicked off the season nationally for ESPN.

The winner of the Tennessee-California conflict will have a leg up in the quest for nationwide recognition, but the loser won't drop off the football map. Both teams shape up as strong contenders in their conference races.

This brochure is loaded with background information that explains the attraction Tennessee exerts on television schedule-makers as well as on other media outfits. UT's proud past, which has solidified the support of countless legions of fans, reflects the sport of college football at the highest level.

In the 208 pages of this 2007 football guide are found the records, data on current Vols players and coaches and information about the opponents who will try to block UT's path to a championship.

As always, the boys and girls in the sports information office have outdone themselves in assembling this monumental labor of love. Their joy in being part of the greater Vols family has inspired them to put forth a superb effort.

OUTLOOK

After a season restoring their credibility as a football team deserving of national recognition, the Tennessee Vols in 2007 are targeting a return to their more accustomed role as championship contenders.

The outcome of early games, including road jaunts to California and Florida, will determine where the quest will be directed. Will it be toward national honors or a lofty status in the Southeastern Conference?

Most of the ingredients are in place for a serious run at a championship, including the momentum that fired the Vols to a 9-3 regular season record.

Head coach Phillip Fulmer and his staff, headed by battle-hardened coordinators John Chavis (defense) and David Cutcliffe (offense), are zeroing in on a winning start against California and Southern Mississippi.

They realize that awaiting them through most of the rest of the schedule are eight SEC opponents, each of which, like Tennessee, dreams of representing the nation's strongest football league in contending for the national championship.

The Vols' chances of surviving the brutal SEC gauntlet and going on to greater heights should be enhanced by a freshman class that could provide a quick fix for depth problems that might arise during the season. In the shaky -- at best -- business of judging recruits, Tennessee's freshmen have been ranked among the most promising yields nationwide.

Erik Ainge

QUARTERBACK

The presence of Erik Ainge for a final fling puts the Vols one-up on most of the competition going into the 2007 campaign. The most accurate passer in Tennessee history, with his 67-percent completion mark edging out such notables as Peyton Manning and Daryl Dickey, Ainge is masterful at finding the bull's-eye. He had two games in which his consistency was especially notable, hitting 15 straight against Air Force and 11 against Vanderbilt.

Ainge in 2006 had 19 touchdown passes, bringing his career total to 41. Only two UT quarterbacks have found paydirt more often, Manning (89) and Casey Clausen (75). He was mentioned often throughout the season as a possible All-America candidate, beginning with his season-opening performance against California. He riddled the Golden Bears for touchdown strikes of 12, 42, 80 and 52 yards in a 35-18 victory that let the football world know Tennessee was back in business.

A fan favorite because of his rugged playing style, Jonathan Crompton shapes up as a worthy backup to Ainge. He took over the signal-caller post in the second quarter of the LSU game, eventually racking up two touchdowns on passes to Robert Meachem. The second TD, a 54-yard bomb, allowed Tennessee to enter the fourth quarter with a lead over the Tigers. Nick Stephens, redshirted last year as a freshman, rounds out the signal-caller corps.

TAILBACK

Tennessee approached the tailback situation by turning matters over to a three-man committee consisting of LaMarcus Coker, Montario Hardesty and Arian Foster. Most electrifying to Vols fans was the fleet Coker, but it's each to his own opinion as to who was most effective. They were close to equals in number of carries. Coker had 108 opportunities, netting 696 yards. Hardesty toted the ball 107 times for 384 yards, and Foster, despite injuries, picked up 322 yards on 91 tries.

TIGHT END

Chris Brown meets the description of team's leading returnee at catching passes following the loss of almost the entire wide receiver brigade. Brown at 6-3 and 250 is a strapping tight end, a senior with three letters who is a capable blocker.

Last year he figured prominently in the passing game when he snared a total of 31 catches for 235 yards. Brown's 7.7-yard average shows Ainge sought him out when picking up first-down yardage was a priority. Behind Brown, Brad Cottam is returning. He, too, caught a respectable number of passes, 14 in his case. As usual, Fulmer and Cutcliffe won't be sending Brown and Cottam onto the field primarily to catch passes. Instead, they will mainly be bearing the tight end's burden, which means blocking, blocking and more blocking. But it's comforting to know that when they are not protecting Ainge or mowing down somebody on behalf of the running backs, they can be counted on for some dependable pass-catching.

David Holbert has proved himself a gamer with his attitude. At 6-1, 250, he can pretty well match the dimensions of the departed Cory Anderson, who was 6-3, 255.

WIDE RECEIVER

Tennessee is facing up to a situation where the wide receiver pool was virtually eliminated. Robert Meachem's absence was caused by his decision to enter the NFL a year earlier than Vol coaches had hoped he would. In his junior year, he had 71 catches for 1,298 yards and 11 touchdowns, initiating the thought in Robert's mind he was ready for a shot at the play-for-pay ranks. The second and third best receivers, Jayson Swain and Bret Smith, who had 88 catches between them, have graduated. Returnees with whom the Vols plan to build a supply of sure-handed receivers include Lucas Taylor, Austin Rogers and Josh Briscoe. Lumped together, however, they have only 29 career catches to their credit.

Obviously, the same situation prevails at receiver as at fullback in that the Vols coaches must reach deep into the roster to find men who can survive in the merciless SEC. Among those with high hopes they can fill the void are Quintin Hancock and Casey Woods. With Ainge established as one of the most productive passers in Vols history, it's essential that Tennessee provide quality receivers who can keep the passing game a prime weapon in the team's offensive arsenal.

OFFENSIVE LINE

The loss of Arron Sears, who anchored the offensive line, left a gaping hole at tackle. The coaches will bear down on the search for successors to Sears and another quality veteran, guard David Ligon. To be sure, there aren't any established returning stars of the Sears stripe; after all, topflight All-America linemen don't exactly grow on trees. But Josh McNeil, a 6-4, 280-pound sophomore, returns for his second year at center and has the ability to become one of the SEC's rising stars. He made his debut as a starter against Memphis and gradually gained the respect of the coaches with his consistent improvement. Their judgment was vindicated when Josh was named a freshman All-America.

Jerod Mayo

Anthony Parker is a 6-3, 305-pound junior who will man a guard position, while Eric Young, a 6-4, 305-pound senior, brightens the picture at tackle. Young has been part of the starting rotation since midway in the 2005 season. Some other candidates for offensive line duty are Michael Frogg, Ramon Foster and Jacques McClendon, all seeking playing time. McClendon played in every game as a true freshman. Over at tackle, the Vols need a replacement who can reach Sears' level of proficiency. The one thing Fulmer wants to avoid is a drastic drop in production, which means somebody needs to step forward. If history repeats, several offensive linemen will find their positions switched as the coaches seek the best combination to take the field Sept. 1 against California.

DEFENSIVE LINE

The defense needs to overcome some huge obstacles of its own. Chavis, UT's defensive chief, is determined the Vols will put up a tougher performance than sometimes was the case last year in such categories as stopping running plays and surrendering points. The best way to reach that goal is to put more big plays into the record book than happened in 2006. It can all start with Xavier Mitchell and Antonio Reynolds, a couple of seasoned ends whose experience and know-how should be the keys to applying pressure from both ends of the defensive line.

Both are seniors, and both have made some pivotal plays in their UT careers. Mitchell, in particular, recorded a doozey. He thwarted a two-point conversion attempt by Air Force late in the Sept. 9 victory over the Falcons. He tackled the runner behind the line of scrimmage in a play that was crucial to Tennessee's 31-30 victory. Mitchell had a hand in 43 tackles, including eight for loss, four sacks among them. He also inflicted a team-leading 15 quarterback hurries. Reynolds accounted for 37 tackles, including 4.5 for lost yardage.

With little experience at tackle because of the loss of both starters, the Vols will count on Mitchell and Reynolds to bring their games to a sharpness that will set the tempo for the defensive line. Robert Ayers, Wes Brown and Andre Mathis are other lettermen who will likely play behind Mitchell and Reynolds, both of whose varsity jackets are emblazoned with three letters.

The chase is on to see who will win the tackle jobs vacated by Turk McBride and Matt McGlothlin. McBride in particular will be missed, based on his statistics from last year, including his rank as the team's fourth-leading tackler. He was in on 11 quarterback hurries and 8.5 tackles for loss. The most experienced candidates for the starting posts are Demonte' Bolden and Walter Fisher, both juniors, and J.T. Mapu, a senior. Mapu returned to the squad last year after spending two years on a church mission in Texas and Louisiana.

Mapu didn't quite reach the level of effectiveness he showed prior to heading out for his mission, at least as far as statistics are concerned. But Bolden increased his presence as the season moved along and recorded the Vols' only sack against Kentucky in the season finale. Fisher, who had two tackles for lost yardage among his eight stops, gives promise of developing into a topflight lineman with big-play capabilities. One of the goals between now and the start of the season will be to create some decent reserve strength and to toughen up the overall force of the front four in providing game-altering destruction. Other candidates for action include Chase Nelson, Victor Thomas and Dan Williams.

LINEBACKER

For consistency, you can't find a better position over the years at Tennessee than linebacker. Even with the loss of Marvin Mitchell, the Vols' top tackler of 2006, from his slot in the middle, linebacker stacks up as the backbone of the defense. Jerod Mayo gives every indication he can be an All-America who can rank with the storied names in UT history. Last year, as he registered 83 tackles, third on the Vols chart, he also had five sacks among his 12.5 tackles for loss. Jerod was a second team All-America as selected by Rivals.com. Twice he was named SEC player of the week in leading the Vols to victory against California and Alabama.

Mayo will hold forth at weakside linebacker and will join senior Ryan Karl to provide Tennessee two returning starters. A steady and dependable performer at strong linebacker, Karl had 66 tackles, including six perpetrated behind the line of scrimmage. The probable starter in the middle, where Mitchell comported himself heroically, will be Rico McCoy, a third-team freshman All-America and a first-team frosh All-SEC choice as picked by conference coaches. A two-year letterman, Ellix Wilson, heads up the reserves. Also in contention for playing time at linebacker, their chances to be determined by their development between spring and fall, will be junior Adam Myers-White, sophomore Dorian Davis and freshman LaMarcus Thompson.

SECONDARY

Leadership in the defensive backfield must come from Jonathan Hefney, a three-time letter-winner who is winding up a star-studded undergraduate career. He was the starter last season at free safety and could return to that job or he could be assigned to cornerback, depending on how the cards fall in the meantime. Hefney collected 96 tackles, second only to linebacker Marvin Mitchell. Where he stood out like a charm, though, was pass defense, an area in which he distinguished himself by nabbing five interceptions. There was a string of three games in which he recorded an interception. the first Vol to do that since 2002. His best outing came against Air Force, a close-fought battle in which Hefney had 17 tackles.

Hefney alone returns as a starter in the secondary, a disturbing thought concerning a part of the defense in which one false move will result in six points for the opponent. Most likely, coaches will make numerous personnel switches in the months leading to the start of the season to offset the loss of three regulars in the secondary -- cornerbacks Antwan Stewart and Jonathan Wade and strong safety Demetrice Morley. Several players have experience, including in some cases time spent as a starter. Among those getting a close look as possible replacements are seniors Antonio Gaines and Jarod Parrish, junior Sinclair Cannon and sophomores Marsalous Johnson, Ricardo Kemp and Antonio Wardlow. Another certainty: Incoming Vols will get their chance to display quickly how they can help shore up a secondary that is sadly lacking in proven performers.

SPECIAL TEAMS

One part of the kicking game could be fairly be labeled "money in the bank" heading into the 2007 season. Another member of the famous family of Tennessee punters named Colquitt has taken his place in the Vols history book. Junior Britton Colquitt is related, as you might suspect, to three previous Colquitts who have made their mark for the Vols -- Craig (father), Dustin (brother) and Jimmy (cousin). Britton as a sophomore last season averaged 44.9 yards, ranking second in the SEC and seventh nationally. James Wilhoit ended his UT playing days last year as the SEC's active career scoring leader, notching 325 points -- impressive work, but obviously something that creates a gigantic void as he moves on. It's wide-open competition for winning the job as Wilhoit's successor. Redshirt freshman Daniel Lincoln displayed promising signs during spring practice.

Last year, Jonathan Hefney was a semifinalist in national competition for the best kick return man in college football, an award so prestigious it is named after Randy Moss of Marshall University and NFL fame. Hefney, who has been entrusted with punt returns, averaged 12.1 yards on 17 opportunities, placing 33rd in the nation. LaMarcus Coker and Lucas Taylor averaged 20.0 and 16.9 yards, respectively, on kick returns. The Vols hope they can squeeze more mileage out of their kick return game this season. Fulmer won't settle for anemic production again.

Phillip FULMER

Head Football Coach
16th Season
Dean of SEC Coaches
137 Wins, 14 Bowl Games
90 NFL Draft Picks

Phillip Fulmer's commitment to excellence in the Tennessee football program returned the Vols to the thick of the Southeastern Conference championship picture in 2006.

And following another outstanding recruiting campaign, Fulmer has Tennessee maintaining its status atop the nation's most competitive conference.

Fulmer finished 9-4 overall last season against opponents that sported a combined record of 89-61 (.593). The Vols were 5-3 in league play, good enough for second place in the Eastern Division. Wins over top-10 foes California and Georgia nearly offset narrow setbacks to BCS bowl teams Florida and LSU.

In fact, three of Tennessee's four losses came to teams ranked among the top 15 nationally at season's end.

One alteration from a challenging 2005 campaign was the hiring of David Cutcliffe as assistant head coach and offensive coordinator. The former Mississippi head coach returned to the UT position he held from 1993-98 and was reunited with Fulmer and defensive coordinator wizard John Chavis.

The trio has a combined 72 years of coaching in the SEC and Tennessee's record when coaching together – Fulmer as head coach, Chavis as defensive coordinator and Cutcliffe as offensive coordinator – is an amazing 53-9 (.855).

The dean of Southeastern Conference coaches, Fulmer has claimed a national championship, two conference titles and six divisional crowns while winning better than three-quarters of his games. He also retains his rank atop the winning percentage list for coaches with at least 10 years experience in Division I-A.

Eight Phillip Fulmer-coached teams have eclipsed the 10-win mark and two others just missed with nine victories. The highlight came in 1998 when Tennessee capped a perfect 13-0 season with a Fiesta Bowl victory over Florida State.

That was the first season of Bowl Championship Series competition and in nine years hence, no team has won more than one championship in what has become a balanced collegiate football landscape.

The Volunteers under their native son have 137 triumphs against only 41 defeats for a winning percentage of .770. No active coach with at least a decade in Division I-A has such a lofty victory rate.

And speaking of the last 10 years, Tennessee under Fulmer is 94-32 over that span.

There is nothing to suggest Fulmer is in any danger of letting up. He is averaging nearly 9½ wins a season for the last decade, with five SEC Eastern Division titles during that span and two overall league crowns.

The dean of Southeastern Conference coaches, Fulmer has claimed a national championship, two conference titles and six divisional crowns while winning better than three-quarters of his games. He also retains his rank atop the winning percentage list for coaches with at least 10 years experience in Division I-A.

The Winchester native joined former Nebraska legend Tom Osborne as the only coaches to lead a team to a bowl game in their first 13 years of coaching.

Since Fulmer took over, more than 9 million fans have passed through the Neyland Stadium turnstiles. In 1998, Fulmer rewarded those supporters by guiding Tennessee to its sixth national championship with a perfect 13-0 record and a Tostitos Fiesta Bowl victory over Florida State.

An accepted measure of a program's success, Tennessee's position in the national polls also has been a testimonial to Fulmer's sure hand at the helm. Under Fulmer, the Vols had a streak of 54 consecutive weeks ranked in the top 10.

UT has been in the national polls at game time for 158 of Fulmer's 178 games as head coach.

Fulmer's brilliant coaching record also includes these accomplishments:

■ Selection as National and SEC coach of the year in 1998.

■ The first Tennessee team to post 13 victories in a single season, a record in 1998 that included an SEC championship and Tostitos Fiesta Bowl win for the national title.

■ Fifteen Tennessee players have earned first-team All-America honors, including offensive tackle Arron Sears and wide receiver Robert Meachem in 2006.

■ Fifteen first-round NFL selections since 1993 and a total of 90 players selected overall. The Vols have had the most players on opening-day NFL rosters each of the last two seasons and the team's five first-day 2007 NFL Draft picks were the most of any school.

Phillip and Vicky Fulmer with Brittany, Courtney, Allison and Phillip Jr.

■ Back-to-back SEC titles in 1997-98 and five Eastern Division crowns in the last 10 years. The Vols have won or tied for the division title six times under Fulmer.

■ A record of 45-5 from 1995-98, the most victories over a four-year span in school history.

■ The Vols have ended the season ranked in the top 10 six times under Fulmer.

■ Each of the last two seasons, Tennessee has led the SEC in Fall Academic Honor Roll recipients.

The 2007 NFL Draft saw six UT players drafted, including a nation's best five on the first day. Standouts Justin Harrell and Robert Meachem were first-round selections of the Green Bay Packers and New Orleans Saints, respectively.

Fulmer's record becomes all the more remarkable because of the rugged gauntlet of opponents faced by the Vols. Tennessee's schedule is regularly among the toughest in the nation. In addition to the demanding SEC slate, the Vols stray far from home to meet such traditional national powerhouses as Miami, Notre Dame, Syracuse and California.

Tennessee has gone 41-30 against ranked competition under Fulmer.

Notching two straight SEC titles in 1997 and 1998 carried special meaning for Fulmer, who played in the offensive line for the Vols and then came back as an assistant coach before being promoted to head coach in 1992.

"Winning championships is always a goal when you're coaching football," Fulmer said.

The former Vol offensive lineman served 13 years as a Vols assistant beginning in 1980 before becoming the 20th head football coach at Tennessee. The decision to elevate Fulmer occurred five seasons after he was appointed assistant head coach and three seasons after he became offensive coordinator.

During Fulmer's years as offensive coordinator, the Vols consistently broke team total offense records and were ranked one or two in the SEC. Records have fallen with even greater frequency since he became head coach.

Year after year with Fulmer as head coach, Tennessee continues to stand in the top ranks of college football for graduating players who go on to careers in the professional game. Since 1996, Tennessee ranks first in the SEC and third nationally with 69 total players drafted, and the Vols have had 13 NFL first-round selections since 1993.

The 2007 NFL Draft saw six UT players drafted, including a nation's best five on the first day. Standouts Justin Harrell and Robert Meachem were first-round selections of the Green Bay Packers and New Orleans Saints, respectively.

Fulmer is the national spokesperson for the Jason Foundation Inc., and considers such experiences essential to the education process of UT football players. He recently was named the first recipient of the "Grant Teaff Breaking the Silence Award," presented jointly by the AFCA and the Jason Foundation.

He also has served on such boards of directors as Boys and Girls Clubs, American Football Coaches Association and Child and Family Services.

John CHAVIS

Associate Head Coach
Defensive Coordinator
Linebackers

■ John Chavis was recognized last season as the American Football Coaches Association's 2006 Division I-A Assistant Coach of the Year.

■ Working through a lineup decimated by off-season departures and early season injuries, Chavis and the defensive staff helped return the Vols to Southeastern Conference championship contention in 2006. UT finished 9-4 overall and 5-3 in the SEC, good enough for second place in the Eastern Division after a 5-6 overall finish the year before.

■ "It's a great honor to be selected," Chavis said. "Anytime you're recognized by your peers it's special, it's truly special. The people in this profession know what's happening on a daily basis and they see things other people don't see. They're in the same battles we are in, and to be recognized by your peers is the greatest compliment that can be paid.

■ "It also shows what we've been able to do here at Tennessee through the years. Obviously, we have a great staff to work with in Dan Brooks, Steve Caldwell and Larry Slade, and Coach Fulmer brings it all together. This award reflects what they've done as well as what I've done."

■ Off a defense that finished first in the league in 2005 and second nationally with a rushing unit that allowed just 82.5 yards per game, Tennessee lost seven starters to graduation and another to early departure for the NFL. In addition to cornerback Roshaun Fellows' decision to undergo shoulder surgery, Tennessee then lost two additional starters in Justin Harrell and Inquoris Johnson to season-ending injuries in September.

■ Still, UT nearly claimed its fourth 10-win season in the last six years.

■ Chavis, 50, is in his 19th year as an assistant coach at Tennessee and 29th overall. He began his coaching career at Tennessee in 1979 as a graduate assistant, then moved to Alabama A&M from 1980-83 as a defensive line coach. Chavis moved to defensive coordinator at Alabama State from 1984-85, then returned to Alabama A&M as defensive coordinator in 1986 and built a unit that ranked No. 1 in total defense in Division II from 1987-88.

■ He returned to his alma mater, Tennessee, in 1989 and took on responsibilities of the defensive line and linebackers. Chavis was promoted to defensive coordinator in 1995 and has produced some of the stingiest defenses in college football. Since 1995, Chavis' defenses have held their opponents below a 100-yard rushing average in six seasons, and eight times during that span the Vols have ranked among the top three in the SEC in total defense.

David CUTCLIFFE

Assistant Head Coach
Offensive Coordinator
Quarterbacks

■ David Cutcliffe said it occurred to him after the Super Bowl. Upon returning with head coach Phillip Fulmer from the NFL championship game in Miami, where the two Tennessee coaches watched former Vols quarterback Peyton Manning lead the Indianapolis Colts past the Chicago Bears, Cutcliffe began to realize he has been in some pretty elite company on the collegiate football field.

■ "Think about what we have been associated with at quarterback. We have a guy who has won the Super Bowl. We have another guy who was the third player taken in the draft who is now a United States congressman. I have another who is starting for the New York football Giants who was the number one pick in the draft. We have an all-star first baseman for the Colorado Rockies in Todd Helton. We have the all-time leading passer in the history of arena league football in Andy Kelly. We have a national championship quarterback in Tee Martin who is successful in coaching now.

■ "I have been pretty fortunate and it has been pretty special. That hit me on our way back from Miami."

The Vols improved their scoring by nearly 10 points per game and their total offense by nearly 50 yards per game under Cutcliffe's tutelage.

■ Cutcliffe made his way back to the Big Orange football staff last season and made an immediate impact.

■ The Vols improved their scoring by nearly 10 points per game and their total offense by nearly 50 yards per game under Cutcliffe's tutelage.

■ Most importantly, they improved by four victories and climbed into the SEC championship picture one year after finishing 5-6 thanks to the leadership provided by All-America performers Arron Sears and Robert Meachem.

■ The Birmingham, Ala., native returned to the place he resided for 17 years, including six as offensive coordinator. He left Tennessee after the 1998 season to become head coach at Mississippi.

■ Cutcliffe compiled a 44-29 record with the Rebels from 1999-2004 and coached Ole Miss to four bowl victories against one loss. He was the only Rebels coach in history to win at least seven games in each of his first five seasons.

■ Under Cutcliffe's leadership as offensive coordinator from 1993-99, Tennessee twice led the SEC in total offense and three times was the league's rushing leader. The Vols led the SEC in scoring in 1993 and placed second nationally with an average of 42.8 points per game.

■ The Vols were 63-11 during that span with three East Division crowns, two league championships and the 1998 national title. Cutcliffe received the Frank Broyles Award in 1998 as the nation's top assistant coach and was a finalist for the honor in 1997.

David and Karen Cutcliffe with Chris, Katie, Emily and Marcus.

■ Cutcliffe attended Alabama and received his degree in health, physical education and recreation in 1976. He returned to his roots at Banks (Ala.) High School as an assistant for four years before being named head coach in 1980. Trooper TAYLOR

Assistant Head Coach
Player Development
Wide Receivers

This past season, Taylor was named by Rivals.com a Top 25 recruiter for the second time in three years.

■ Trooper Taylor has returned to a familiar assignment, taking over the wide receiver position in 2006 for the first time at Tennessee. And the move paid huge dividends.

■ The Vols were on the receiving end of 3,438 yards of passing offense, more than a third of which found its way into the hands of All-America Robert Meachem. He was joined by seniors Jayson Swain and Bret Smith to form one of the nation's top pass-catching trios.

■ Meachem set a UT record for receiving yards (1,298) in a season under Taylor before becoming a first-round draft pick of the New Orleans Saints. Meachem is set to join a steep tradition of current NFL stars – Donte' Stallworth, Eric Parker, Kelley Washington, Peerless Price and Cedrick Wilson – who got their starts on Rocky Top.

■ Taylor made the switch to wideouts after two successful seasons as running backs coach.

■ He first led Cedric Houston and Gerald Riggs Jr. to become Tennessee's only pair of 1,000-yard rushers in the same season, and then coached Arian Foster to one of the best freshman campaigns in UT history in 2005.

■ Taylor accepted the appointment to assistant head coach for player development in 2005. The 37-year-old manages the academic and social direction and development of student-athletes in conjunction with their position coaches and the coordinators.

■ This past season, Taylor was named by Rivals.com a Top 25 recruiter for the second time in three years.

■ Taylor came to Knoxville after a five-year stint coaching receivers at Tulane. He coached four wideouts into the NFL during his tenure in New Orleans, including the nation's top receiving trio in 2001 of Adrian Burnette, Kerwin Cook and Terrell Harris. They combined to lead the country with 2,384 receiving yards on 185 catches.

■ A strong believer in Christian values, Taylor grew up in a family of 16 in Cuero, Texas.

■ The 1992 Baylor University graduate finished his playing career as the school's leader in kickoff returns (53) and return yardage (1,063). After helping the Bears to the 1991 Copper Bowl and completing his degree, Taylor joined the coaching staff at his alma mater for the 1992 season.

■ He spent two years as a graduate assistant before being named wide receivers coach in 1994. He then coached Baylor's secondary for two years before returning to the wide receivers for one year. Prior to signing on at Tulane, Taylor spent the 1998 season as running backs coach at New Mexico.

■ Taylor is married to the former Evi Crosby of Harbor City, Calif. He and his wife, who was a track and field scholarship athlete at Baylor, were wed in 1993 on the football playing field at Floyd Casey Stadium. They have a son, Blaise, and a daughter, Starr.

Greg ADKINS

Assistant Football Coach
Offensive Line

■ Greg Adkins' first season in charge of the Tennessee offensive line produced immediate results.

■ Arron Sears capped a brilliant career in 2006 by earning All-America and All-SEC honors and was named the Vols' first winner of the SEC Jacobs Blocking Trophy since 1990. In addition, center Josh McNeil was named Freshman All-America by Rivals.com and a Freshman All-SEC by the league coaches.

■ Adkins spent his first three years at UT as the assistant offensive line coach, with primary responsibilities for tight ends. He also coordinated the Vols' national recruiting reputation as Director of Recruiting. During his first three seasons in Knoxville, Tennessee signed players from 21 states and the District of Columbia.

■ The 39-year-old came to the Vols in 2003 from Troy University, where he held similar duties. Adkins' work with the offensive line helped the Trojans make the transition from Division I-AA.

■ Before coaching at Troy, Adkins spent five years as an assistant at Georgia under Jim Donnan. He coached the Bulldogs' defensive line in 1996 and oversaw tight ends and the offensive line from 1997-2000. During his tenure in Athens, the Bulldogs posted a 40-19 record in five seasons and appeared in four bowl games.

■ Adkins coached a pair of NFL draftees on the Bulldogs defensive line -- Jason Ferguson and Jermaine Smith -- and All-SEC tight end Larry Brown.

■ A native of Cross Lanes, W.Va., Adkins arrived at Georgia with Donnan in 1996 after spending 10 seasons at Marshall as a player and coach. Adkins was a part of 97 Thundering Herd victories during his decade. He was a four-year letterman on the offensive line from 1986-89 and served as team captain during his senior season.

■ Adkins coached a variety of positions at Marshall, including offensive line, defensive tackles and tight ends. In 1990, he helped with the transition of future two-time All-America selection Phil Ratliff from defensive line to offensive line. He also was part of the Marshall coaching staff when the Herd led the Southern Conference in rushing defense in 1992 and scoring offense from 1993-95.

■ A coaching highlight for Adkins while at Marshall was the team's 1992 NCAA Division I-AA national championship victory over rival Youngstown State. He also had a hand in the three other second-place finishes for the school.

■ Adkins is married to the former Michelle Gillespie, also of Cross Lanes. They have two sons, Nicholas and Nathan, and a daughter, Natalie.

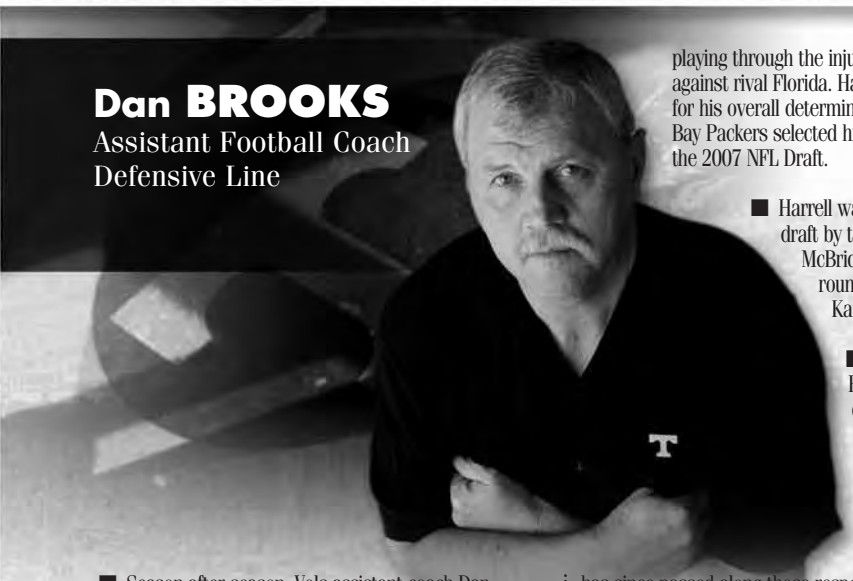
Dan BROOKS

Assistant Football Coach
Defensive Line



■ Season after season, Vols assistant coach Dan Brooks sets the standard for quality defensive line play with his Tennessee charges.

■ His remarkable run of success as mentor of the UT defensive line continues into this 14th season in Big Orange Country. And although Brooks is highly regarded in coaching circles at the national level, he also considers himself a player's coach who has the full confidence of those performing around him.

Season after season, Vols assistant coach Dan Brooks sets the standard for quality defensive line play with his Tennessee charges.

■ Such former Vols and current NFL notables as John Henderson, Shane Burton, Darwin Walker, Albert Haynesworth, Jesse Mahelona, Rashad Moore, Demetrin Veal, Tony McDaniel and Aubrayo Franklin, just to name a few, are among those to have benefited from Brooks' coaching expertise.

■ Last season, Justin Harrell was prepared to set the standard for excellence until injuring his biceps muscle in the second game of the season. Still, Harrell displayed the toughness and strength developed under Brooks by playing through the injury in one final game against rival Florida. Harrell was rewarded for his overall determination when the Green Bay Packers selected him in the first round of the 2007 NFL Draft.

■ Harrell was joined in this year's draft by teammate Turk McBride, who was a second-round selection of the Kansas City Chiefs.

■ A measure of Phillip Fulmer's confidence in Brooks came after the 1998 season when he designated Dan to take on additional duties as the Vols' recruiting coordinator. Brooks has since passed along those responsibilities, but during his stint the Vols annually ranked among the nation's elite in the recruiting wars.

■ His previous experience as a coach included stops at Florida and North Carolina. And the veteran Carolina native still has the zest for football he experienced when he was given his first job at Western Carolina in 1975.

■ A Western Carolina graduate, Brooks received his master's from Florida. He coached at Western Carolina, Kings Mountain (N.C.) High School and Florida before taking a job with Mack Brown at North Carolina in 1988.

■ In 1990, the North Carolina defense set a school record by registering 45 sacks, of which 19 were by the defensive line. In Brooks' final season before coming to UT, the Tar Heels led the Atlantic Coast Conference in sacks with 38.

■ The 2000 Vols recorded an SEC-leading 50 sacks, a school record, and the 2001 unit again led the league in sacks with 34. The 1996 Big Orange posted another school mark, 83 tackles for lost yardage. In 2005, Tennessee led the SEC in rushing defense and ranked second in Division I-A.

Steve CALDWELL

Assistant Football Coach
Defensive Ends

■ Steve Caldwell enters his 13th season on Phillip Fulmer's staff intent on maintaining his standard of excellence at the defensive end position.

■ Tennessee returns a pair of senior starters at defensive end for 2007 in Xavier Mitchell and Antonio Reynolds. Caldwell no doubt will have this duo ready for the SEC trenches and ready to advance their football careers into the NFL, joining such former Vol stalwarts as Shaun Ellis, Demetrin Veal and the recently-departed Parys Haralson.

■ Among Caldwell's most accomplished pupils was Will Overstreet, who not only finished his UT career with 19 sacks to tie for eighth on the all-time school list, but also mirrored the coach's emphasis on studies by being named to the 2001 Academic All-America second team. After retiring from professional football, Overstreet returned to campus and completed his undergraduate degree in May 2005.

■ A dean's list student himself at Arkansas State, Caldwell played four years of football for the Indians as a defensive end and linebacker.

■ Fulmer, who had worked with Caldwell from the latter's term as a graduate assistant coach on the Tennessee staff in 1990, brought Caldwell back to UT before the 1995 season.

■ His first taste of coaching came over three seasons at his alma mater, from 1978 through 1980. From Jonesboro, Caldwell moved on to Northwest Mississippi Community College, where he coached the offensive line for four seasons and was part of a national championship team in 1982.

■ He then came back to Arkansas State, coaching linebackers under head coach and former UT defensive coordinator Larry Lacewell during a notable period of success for the Indians. A-State advanced to the NCAA quarterfinals three straight seasons from 1985-87, including a 1986 squad that finished 12-2-1 and lost in the national championship game. The Indians' only other blemishes that season were a loss to Mississippi State and a tie against Ole Miss.

■ Caldwell's 1985 linebacking unit helped Arkansas State lead Division I-AA in total defense with an average of only 258.8 yards per game.

■ Subsequent jobs took him to Tennessee, Pacific and Nevada, the latter school as co-defensive coordinator for the 1994 Big West Conference champions. Caldwell coached briefly at Mississippi before accepting Fulmer's entreaty to join the Vols.

■ Ten times in Caldwell's 12 seasons, the Vols defense has ranked in the top four among league schools in total defense. UT's defensive unit has led the SEC in fewest rushing yards allowed three times since 1995. Tennessee's defensive front had its most recent banner season in 2005, sparking the Vols defense to the best rushing yardage average (82.5) in the league and second-best showing nationally.

■ Caldwell also has received deserved credit of late for his work on the recruiting front, helping Tennessee sign what many observers call on an annual basis some of the nation's top recruiting classes.

Kurt ROPER

Assistant Football Coach
Running Backs

■ Tennessee head coach Phillip Fulmer turned his running backs corps over to Kurt Roper last season and the emergence of redshirt freshman LaMarcus Coker proved Fulmer's expectations were well-placed.

■ In fact, Tennessee's running game with Coker, Arian Foster and Montario Hardesty will be a strength heading into 2007. And Roper, who has a close coaching bond with offensive coordinator David Cutcliffe, is an integral part of the attack.

■ Roper, 35, has a history with Tennessee football as both he and his father served on previous UT coaching staffs. Roper returned to Knoxville after having spent the 1996-98 seasons as a graduate assistant coach for the Vols.

■ His father, Bobby, coached linebackers under Johnny Majors from 1977-79.

■ Kurt came back to the Vols from Kentucky, where he spent one season as quarterbacks coach under Rich Brooks.

■ Among those under his tutelage was Eli Manning, who was the No. 1 overall pick in the 2004 NFL Draft.

■ Roper's time at Tennessee was with the defense -- primarily defensive backs -- and special teams. He helped the Vols to two bowl games and was headed for the BCS national championship contest when the opportunity called to join Mississippi's staff.

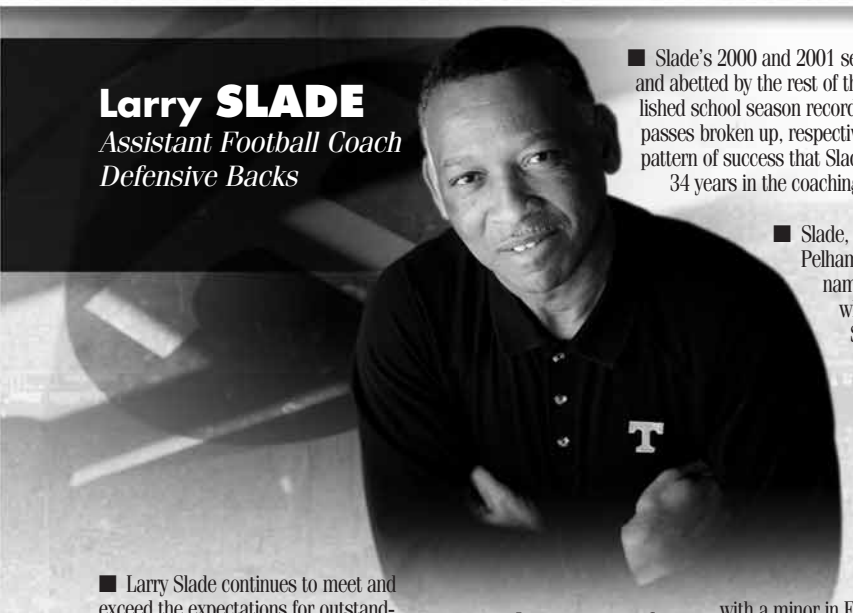
Larry SLADE

Assistant Football Coach
Defensive Backs



■ Larry Slade continues to meet and exceed the expectations for outstanding service set forth by Phillip Fulmer.

■ Last year, Slade's veteran defensive secondary was the strength of the Big Orange defense. Despite the loss of Inquoris Johnson to injury early in September, the Vols maintained a stalwart defensive backfield and cornerback Jonathan Wade became a second-round pick of the St. Louis Rams.

■ Jonathan Hefney is the only returning starter at the make-or-break position, although Slade's troops showed progress during spring drills.

■ Slade is in his ninth season on the UT coaching staff and continues turning out some of the nation's best defensive secondary units.

■ Over the course of the last three seasons, Tennessee's defensive secondary has produced such NFL signees as Rashad Baker, Jabari Greer, Gibril Wilson and Jason Allen, who was selected in the 2006 first round by the Miami Dolphins.

■ Slade's 2000 and 2001 secondary units, aided and abetted by the rest of the defense, established school season records with 64 and 72 passes broken up, respectively. It continues a pattern of success that Slade has enjoyed in his 34 years in the coaching profession.

■ Slade, 56, is a native of Pelham, N.C., who twice was named All-West Virginia while playing guard at Shepherd in the early 1970s. He was named Little All-America honorable mention in 1971 and later inducted into the Shepherd College Hall of Fame.

■ He received his degree in biology with a minor in English.

■ Slade's coaching career began at his alma mater with a nine-year stay before subsequent stops at Richmond, Howard, Southern Illinois, Washington and Maryland.

■ His six-year tenure as secondary coach at Washington was highlighted by a national championship season in 1991, during which the Huskies ranked first in NCAA statistics for pass efficiency defense.

■ Slade left Washington in 1992 for Maryland to serve as defensive coordinator, a post he held for two seasons before moving to Texas A&M.

■ His 1997 Aggies secondary allowed only three passing touchdowns, fewest in the nation. Slade's first unit at Tennessee also sparkled by allowing 214.9 yards per game through the air and making 21 interceptions against only 15 touchdown passes.

■ Married to the former Izetta Willingham, Slade has three children, Herbie, Roshawn and Lyndsey.

■ "It is an honor and a privilege to be at a program with the status of Tennessee and competing in a premier football conference like the SEC," Warwick said.

■ A Baldwinsville, N.Y., native, Warwick began his football administrative duties as Assistant Recruiting Coordinator at Syracuse. He followed that with two seasons as Assistant to the AD for Football Operations at Maryland before serving two years as Assistant AD for Football Management at Clemson. Tommy PHILLIPS

Head Manager

Hernando, Miss.

THOMAS EDWARD PHILLIPS

TENNESSEE TRIVIA – Tennessee's first head football manager to hold the position four consecutive years since Tommy Baker, who served from 1967-70 … Current senior associate athletics director David Woodall also was a four-year head manager, but served his tenure over a five-year period from 1973-77.

Tommy Phillips returns for his fourth season as head manager on Roger Frazier's equipment staff. A political science major, Phillips helps oversee the student manager program as a vital element of the UT football family.

The northern Mississippi native played four years of varsity football and baseball for Hernando, performing at tight end and in the outfield, respectively. Phillips claimed the Bernard Wilkerson Academic Athlete Award by compiling a 3.0 grade-point average, and the Fighting Tigers finished 12-2 his senior gridiron year en route to a fourth-place finish in Class 4A.

Phillip FULMER
Head Football Coach

"One of the rewarding parts of my job is to have the opportunity to coach our non-scholarship athletes. It is really fun to see these young men, who often work themselves into a key part of our team, come in with great enthusiasm and passion for Tennessee football.

"Many times it is only a little maturity, added strength level and extra coaching that blossoms them into contributors to our program. Some develop into scholarship athletes and continue as pro football players, while others may have limited playing time in striving toward their degree. Each reflects the attitude and desire that make college football special.

Compliance

Compliance with NCAA rules is one of the highest priorities for the University of Tennessee and our athletics department. As a member of the NCAA, the University of Tennessee is responsible for the actions of its boosters and fans. Even the best intentions may violate NCAA rules. We need your help in observing all SEC and NCAA regulations. Boosters and fans must be careful of their interaction with prospective and current student-athletes. Therefore, we encourage our boosters and fans to "Ask Before You Act" by contacting the Compliance Office staff: Associate Athletics Director for Compliance Brad Bertani (865-974-3871) or Compliance Officer Kevin Avery (865-974-3308).

Representatives of Athletics Interest, "Boosters"

There are many ways an individual can be classified as a Representative of Tennessee's Athletics Interests. You are a "representative of The University of Tennessee's athletics interests," if you have: been involved in a booster club; made financial contributions to the athletics program or booster organizations; provided benefits to an enrolled student-athlete; assisted in the recruitment of prospective student-athletes; or been involved in the promotion of UT athletics. Please note that once you have been identified as a representative of UT athletics interests, you retain that identity indefinitely.

Recruiting, Extra Benefits and Inducements

Only coaches and athletics department staff members can be involved in the recruiting process. All "athletics representatives" who are not employees of UT are prohibited from contacting a prospect by telephone, letter or in-person, on- or off-campus, for the purpose of encouraging participation in athletics at UT. It is not permissible for prospects, student-athletes or their relatives and friends to receive any extra benefits or special arrangements from a booster. Extra benefits include, but are not limited to: cash or loans in any amount; co-signing or arranging a loan; providing gifts of any kind (e.g., clothing, airline tickets or holiday cards); providing special discounts for goods and services; use of an automobile.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Tennessee signees Todd Campbell, Art Evans, Donald Langley, Cody Pope and Darris Sawtelle enrolled early at UT and participated in spring drills. Their thumbnail sketches are included with the returnees.

Jonathan Hefney's career-long 65-yard punt return set up another key Vols score as Tennessee defeated South Carolina 31-24.

Defensive starters Justin Harrell and Inky Johnson both sustained season-ending injuries in the second game of last year. The injured Vols became a rallying point for the Volunteer Nation and the logo with both players' numbers was prominently featured in Neyland Stadium the rest of the season. Harrell put off surgery by one week to play in one final game against Florida. The defensive tackle was a first round selection by the Green Bay Packers in the 2007 NFL draft. Johnson continues his rehab and is progressing toward his degree in political science.

Montario Hardesty's dazzling 43-yard touchdown run gave Tennessee a five-touchdown lead over 9th-ranked California as the Vols went on to win their 12th consecutive season opener.

Antonio Wardlow provided the exclamation point on UT's comeback win at Georgia when he broke through the Bulldog line to block this punt and recover the ball in the end zone for a touchdown. Wardlow's feat landed him on the cover of Sports Illustrated.

GAME 1 - CALIFORNIA

Sept. 2, 2006

TENNESSEE 35 CALIFORNIA 18

KNOXVILLE — Tennessee opened its season with a dominating win over No. 9 California on Saturday night at Neyland Stadium, showing off a born-again offensive attack and burying the Golden Bears 35-18 in the lid-lifter for both squads.

"I'm obviously very proud of our football team," head coach Phillip Fulmer said. "But I honestly can't sit here and tell you that I didn't expect it.

"We prepared extremely well. We came out of the dressing room ready to go. That corny little motto - 'Fired up, focused and prepared' - seems like it's working so far."

Whatever it is, it worked like a charm for the Vols.

UT jumped out to a 35-0 lead early in the second half behind the hot hand of junior quarterback Erik Ainge - who set a career-high with 291 yards and four touchdown passes in his first start under center with offensive coordinator David Cutcliffe calling the shots.

"David Cutcliffe has energized our offensive football team," Fulmer said. "I'm proud of our staff, and I'm proud of our team.

"The guys were ready to play. We've been waiting for this. It's been a physical spring, a tough summer and the last few weeks have been very demanding. But when you win, you have fun. And that's why you play."

Nobody had more fun than Ainge, who opened his junior campaign by nearly throwing for more touchdowns than he threw for in all of his sophomore season (five).

"If Cutcliffe told me to play without a helmet or a mouthpiece or with one cleat, I would do it," Ainge said. "Anything he tells me, I'm going to do. I think we've all bought in as an offense."

The defense wasn't too bad, either.

The Vols shut down preseason Heisman Trophy candidate Marshawn Lynch and the California passing attack until the game was decided, allowing only a field goal to break up the shutout and a couple of meaningless touchdowns after UT built the 35-point lead.

Lynch finished with 76 yards on 12 carries, and the Vols added three sacks -- all by sophomore linebacker Jerod Mayo -- and two interceptions in the stellar defensive effort.

"It was a great performance by the defense," senior defensive tackle Justin Harrell said. "We were very prepared for this team coming in. We knew what we could do.

"We knew we wanted to dominate the line of scrimmage and get to the running backs as best as we could and show California this isn't an easy place to come in and get a 'W.'

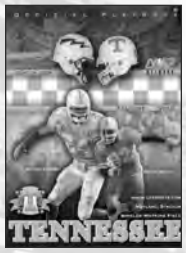
GAME 2 - AIR FORCE



Sept. 9, 2006

TENNESSEE 31 AIR FORCE 30

KNOXVILLE - When it mattered most, Tennessee finally figured it out.

After struggling to find a way to stop the Air Force rushing game for nearly 60 minutes, the No. 11 Vols put the clamps on the Falcons on a two-point conversion attempt late in the fourth quarter to hold on to 31-30 victory at Neyland Stadium.

"We were lucky we were in the right call," UT defensive coordinator John Chavis said. "The biggest thing, though, was that Xavier Mitchell made an outstanding play."

The Falcons rushed for 281 yards on the night, but Mitchell broke into the backfield to keep Air Force (0-1) from getting the last three yards needed to deliver the final blow in what would have been a monumental upset of the Vols (2-0).

Air Force tried a pitch play to wing back Chad Hall, but Mitchell quickly collared him and tossed him for a loss to preserve the victory.

"Chief (Chavis) just made a great call on that play," Mitchell said. "I lined up wide outside the wing, and obviously my thought when they put it on the right hash was they were going to toss left. I just got up field and made the play."

It was by far the biggest defensive play of the night, but it was the UT offense that stole the show for most of the contest.

Erik Ainge broke his one-week-old career high for passing yards with 333 against the Academy, completing 24-of-29 attempts for three touchdowns and one interception.

Robert Meachem was the biggest beneficiary of Ainge's prolific performance once again, hauling in a career-best eight catches for 115 yards and two scores. Meachem and Ainge have hooked up for four scoring strikes in the Vols pair of season-opening wins.

"Erik was outstanding," UT head coach Phillip Fulmer said. "He was throwing the football well, and he was very sharp. The line protected well, the route-running was good and he managed the game extremely well."

The UT win sets up an SEC showdown between a pair of highly-ranked, unbeaten teams on Saturday in Knoxville. No. 7 Florida travels to Neyland Stadium to face the Vols in important divisional battle.

"Give a lot of credit to Air Force for the effort they gave," Fulmer said. "They played their hearts out.

GAME 3 - FLORIDA

Sept. 16, 2006

FLORIDA 21 TENNESSEE 20

KNOXVILLE - Tennessee couldn't find a way to run the ball, and it almost didn't matter.

Despite finishing in the red on the ground, the Vols nearly upset No. 7 Florida on Saturday night at Neyland Stadium, coming up one point short in the 21-20 loss in front of 106,818 fans.

"You're going to have a hard time winning in this league if you can't rush the ball," head coach Phillip Fulmer said. "I thought (running back) Montario (Hardesty) did a nice job.

"We just didn't give him any room to run up front. Florida did some different things in their schemes that worked nicely and managed to stop the run."

Hardesty was held to 14 yards on 17 carries, and the Vols finished with minus-11 yards rushing. Quarterback Erik Ainge was sacked for the first two times this season, but the UT defense nearly allowed the Vols to escape with a win in their SEC opener.

The Vols sacked Gators quarterback Chris Leak three times and intercepted him once, helping UT build a 17-7 lead in the third quarter. Leak's 21-yard touchdown pass to Dallas Baker with just over six minutes left in the game gave Florida a lead it wouldn't relinquish. The Gators stopped a last-gasp Vols drive when Ainge's fourth-and-16 pass intended for Robert Meachem was intercepted to preserve the win.

"Anytime you're (fourth-and-16), against a group of athletes like Florida has, it's tough," Ainge said. "We sent four verticals, and they had guys over the top, so I tried to sneak one into (Meachem), and we weren't on the same page."

In a match-up of two marquee signal-callers, the defenses stole the show. Neither quarterback passed for more than 200 yards, and both passers faced relentless pressure all night long.

Justin Harrell recorded three tackles in his final collegiate game, and the senior was often in the backfield helping to rush Leak from the pocket. Harrell is scheduled to have surgery to repair a ruptured biceps in his left arm - a procedure that will end his season.

GAME 4 - MARSHALL (Homecoming)

Sept. 23, 2006

TENNESSEE 33 MARSHALL 7

KNOXVILLE - Headed towards another fourth quarter of nail-biting, Tennessee took the long way around in a very short time to avoid it.

LaMarcus Coker darted around left end on the Vols' first play of the final frame, speeding 89 yards down the sideline to help put Marshall away 33-7 on a soggy Saturday at Neyland Stadium.

"That run was huge in the ballgame," head coach Phillip Fulmer said. "There were still a lot of people squiggling in their seats, including the head coach.

"LaMarcus has done well every time he's gotten an opportunity, and he'll get more (opportunities) as we go on. It felt great seeing him run down the sideline. I looked back first to make sure there were no flags. That's just the coach in me. We hadn't had a long run like that in a long time."

Not since 1977, when Kelsey Finch ran 99 yards for a touchdown against Florida. Coker's carry - the third-longest in school history - put the freshman over 100 yards on the ground for the first time in his career and turned a tight 16-7 game into an easy 26-point win for the No. 15 Vols (3-1).

"I was happy to be out there getting a chance," Coker said. "I was just trying to help the team out.

"The offensive line did a great job on the touchdown run, and it was actually (quarterback Erik) Ainge's call. It was just off to the races. I waited for my opportunity, and I was glad to take advantage of it."

All the Vols were waiting for an opportunity to put their loss to Florida one week earlier behind them, but they had to wait nearly an hour more than they had planned to take on the Thundering Herd (1-3). Heavy downpours and a flash flood warning pushed kickoff back 55 minutes and led to the first cancellation of the UT tradition of running through the "T" to take the field since its inception in 1965.

"I thought both teams did a great job handling the weather," Ainge said. "We got delayed, and both teams didn't let it affect them.

"We went out there and played hard. We just made more plays than they did."

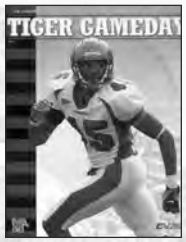
GAME 5 - MEMPHIS Oct. 8, 2005



Sept. 30, 2006

TENNESSEE 41
MEMPHIS 7

MEMPHIS - Thanks to a nearly perfect game, Tennessee finished with a perfect non-conference record.

The Vols offense piled up yards and points - and the defense didn't give up much of either - as UT breezed past Memphis 41-7 at the Liberty Bowl on Saturday.

The Tigers were the last scheduled team from outside of the SEC for No. 15 UT (4-1), which beat all four opponents from outside its league.

The last win was hardly ever in doubt.

"I thought Tennessee played a great game and they have a very good team," Memphis coach Tommy West said. "Tennessee really handed it to us and they were the more physical team and better team."

Quarterback Erik Ainge was 23-for-27 for 324 yards and four touchdowns, as the Vols spread out their attack and picked apart the Memphis secondary. Ainge hooked up with Jayson Swain for a pair of scores, and the junior signal-caller's 84-yard strike to Robert Meachem midway through the third quarter put the game out of reach.

"I'm really proud of our football team," coach Phillip Fulmer said. "I think we really worked to get better during the course of the year. We've come out of these games with some improvement, and that's what we needed."

The improvement was evident just about everywhere at the Liberty Bowl - which was at least half-filled with fans wearing orange and white.

Freshman LaMarcus Coker paced the running game in his first career start, carrying 26 times for 125 yards.

Swain and Meachem continued to pile up yards in the passing game, teaming up for seven catches, 221 yards and three touchdowns.

And the UT defense held the Tigers to just 121 total offensive yards and the lone late touchdown pass in the fourth quarter.

"We had three significantly long drives; two for scores and one we left at the foot line," Fulmer said. "We talked about doing what good teams do. We're trying to be a good team.

"Our defense is still a work in progress as far as overcoming the loss of a couple key players.

GAME 6 - GEORGIA

Oct. 7, 2006

TENNESSEE 51
GEORGIA 33

ATHENS, Ga. - No surprise?

Tennessee quarterback Erik Ainge and the rest of the Vols are surely in the minority.

Ainge said he wasn't surprised with the Vols' startling success on offense on Saturday night at Sanford Stadium, as UT demolished No. 9 Georgia's top-ranked scoring defense en route to a 51-33 win over the Bulldogs.

"I'm not surprised we put up 51 points," Ainge said. "We knew we could make plays and move the ball on Georgia. After our defense put up a few stops, we knew we were going to win. The coaches did a good job putting in the game plan and we executed."

And after a shaky first half that left the No. 13 Vols down by 17 at one point, UT (5-1, 1-1 SEC) executed to perfection. The Vols scored 37 points after halftime against a defense that had allowed just 34 points total in its first five games, scoring on seven straight possessions to give the Bulldogs (5-1, 2-1) one of their worst home losses in school history.

"It was an all-around team effort tonight," said Ainge, who helped the Vols put up the second-highest point total ever for an opponent at Sanford Stadium. "Our defense played well and special teams came up with a few big plays.

"I can't say enough about our offensive line. Half of them didn't practice this week, and yet they didn't miss a step."

The offensive line gave Ainge plenty of time to operate - he was sacked just once on a safety blitz - and he provided another sparkling performance. The junior signal-caller was 25-for-38 for 268 yards and three total touchdowns to lead the comeback and, eventually, easy victory.

"At halftime there was some serious butt chewing going on," coach Phillip Fulmer said. "But I could not be more elated with our staff and our team for the way we handled ourselves tonight. It was a heck of an effort when we were down by 17 in first half."

The defense more than did its share in the second half as well, forcing four turnovers and keeping the Bulldogs' offense out of the end zone.

GAME 7- ALABAMA

Oct. 21, 2006

TENNESSEE 16
ALABAMA 13

KNOXVILLE - It wasn't his prettiest game, but Erik Ainge delivered when it mattered most.

Ainge struggled in the first half on the Third Saturday in October, but he bounced back after intermission and engineered a second consecutive fourth-quarter comeback for the Vols, knocking off rival Alabama 16-13 at Neyland Stadium.

"Anytime you can win the Tennessee-Alabama game, however you get it done, winning is what's important," Ainge said. "We know that it wasn't the prettiest game. We had our moments, but the bottom line is that we won."

For the second time in as many games, the No. 7 Vols weren't in position to win until the final quarter. Against the Crimson Tide, Tennessee didn't take its first lead until sophomore Arian Foster dove over the pile with 3:28 left in the game.

"In the second half, the guts and toughness that this team showed to finish and get a win was just what we needed," coach Phillip Fulmer said. "I take my hat off to Alabama. They gave a great effort, and our guys shouldn't expect any less. This is one of the great rivalries in college football."

And the 89th meeting between the two schools produced another great game, as the UT defense delivered one of its best performances of the season to keep the Vols' SEC championship hopes alive.

While the Vols offense was slumping against Alabama, UT was making it just as hard on the Crimson Tide.

The Vols twice kept Alabama out of the end zone facing first-and-goal, and UT held the Crimson Tide to 53 yards rushing and sacked quarterback John Parker Wilson three times.

"It's certainly a team game, and when one side of the ball is struggling - as our offense was at times tonight - it's great to have the other side of the ball or the special teams step up," Fulmer said.

Eventually, the other side of the ball caught up with the defense. Ainge - who had thrown three interceptions in the first half - drove the Vols 70 yards in nine plays to set up Foster's plunge. The junior signal-caller was 5-for-7 for 63 yards on the scoring drive that finally put the Vols on top.

"He's been bouncing back ever since he got here," Fulmer said of his quarterback. "The greatest thing is when you don't play well and can still win in the end, he helps us win the ballgame."

GAME 8 - SOUTH CAROLINA

Oct. 28, 2006

TENNESSEE 31 SOUTH CAROLINA 24

COLUMBIA, S.C. - There they go again.

For the third-straight game Erik Ainge and the Vols headed into the third quarter trailing on the scoreboard, only to flip the switch over the last 15 minutes and author another come-from-behind win.

Tennessee - which has been downright dominant in the final frame since faltering late against Florida, outscoring opponents 85-20 in the last five fourth quarters - was at it again on Saturday night at Williams-Brice Stadium, turning a three-point deficit into a 31-24 win over South Carolina.

Ainge said he just wonders what the Vols are waiting for.

"If we played the way we do in the fourth quarter in the first three, then we wouldn't have to win in the fourth quarter," the junior said.

To be fair, the first quarter was pretty impressive as well.

The Vols jumped out to a 14-0 lead following Marvin Mitchell's 17-yard interception return for a touchdown and Ainge's five-yard scoring strike to Bret Smith.

Mitchell finished with eight tackles to go with his pick, helping lead a UT defense that kept the Vols in the game until the offense returned to form down the stretch.

"Earlier in the season we had a little let down in the Florida game, and the guys took pride in stepping up in the fourth quarter," the senior linebacker said. "We were just doing what we needed to do.

"The (16-15 loss to South Carolina) last year is always in the back of our minds, but this year is a new year, and we have to take that and drive on. We'll always have a bad taste in our mouth from last year, but now we have guys stepping up and playing like we should be."

They're certainly playing like as well as they need to come crunch time.

Ainge hooked up with Smith again in the fourth quarter to give the Vols the final go-ahead score, and UT hung on in the closing minutes to keep pace with Florida in the race for the SEC East title.

"To get the win on the road in the Southeastern Conference anytime is a big deal," coach Phillip Fulmer said.

GAME 9 - LSU

Nov. 4, 2006

LSU 28 TENNESSEE 24

KNOXVILLE - For the fourth consecutive game, Tennessee came from behind in the fourth quarter.

But this time, JaMarcus Russell and LSU had an answer.

After the Vols took a three-point lead midway through the final quarter, the Tigers answered with a comeback of their own. Russell marched LSU down the field and hit Early Doucet with a 4-yard pass with nine seconds left to upset UT 28-24 at Neyland Stadium.

"Obviously that hurts," coach Phillip Fulmer said. "That really hurts our football team. There was great effort on the field and great effort in preparations during the week.

"You have to give a lot of credit to LSU. Their quarterback (JaMarcus Russell) is a major-league player in every sense of the word. Our team fought its rear off. It's disappointing that sometimes it doesn't turn out your way. We'll continue to fight and scratch and work to get to where we want to get to."

The Vols won't be going to the SEC Championship game, as the loss helped Florida clinch the Eastern Division title. But an at-large berth in a Bowl Championship Series game remains a real possibility if UT can win its last three games, starting Saturday at Arkansas.

"This team still has a chance to have a very fine season," Fulmer said. "And from where everyone expected us to be, we've done quite well."

The Vols played well even without their starting quarterback against the Bayou Bengals. Erik Ainge, limited by an ankle injury suffered against South Carolina, tried to play through it, but redshirt freshman Jonathan Crompton relieved the junior in the second quarter and played the rest of the game.

Crompton was 11-for-24 for 183 yards and an interception, but his first two career touchdown passes were almost enough to give the Vols their fourth-straight come-from-behind victory.

Junior wide receiver Robert Meachem helped ease the transition from Ainge to Crompton on Saturday, catching five passes for 121 yards. The Biletnikoff Award semifinalist hauled in both touchdowns, including the go-ahead score in the fourth quarter that covered 54 yards.

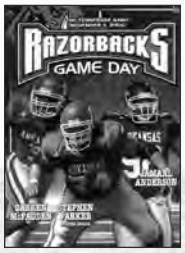
GAME 10 - ARKANSAS



Nov. 11, 2006

ARKANSAS 31 TENNESSEE 14

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. - Arkansas made its case as one of the best teams in the SEC. There were no arguments from Tennessee.

Arkansas never trailed Saturday night at Donald W. Reynolds Razorback Stadium, overpowering the Vols from the outset en route to a 31-14 victory that put the Razorbacks on the inside track for the SEC West championship.

"They are one of the best in the SEC," Tennessee coach Phillip Fulmer said. "Florida, LSU and Arkansas are up there together."

That trio handed the Vols all of their losses this season, but the Razorbacks put on perhaps the most impressive performance of the three.

LSU and Florida came from behind to edge the Vols in tight games in the fourth quarter, but the Razorbacks erased all the drama early.

Arkansas wide receiver Marcus Monk and dynamic running back Darren McFadden each scored twice in the first half, as UT trailed 28-7 at intermission and could never really recover against the Razorbacks defense.

McFadden did most of the damage for Arkansas, rushing for 181 yards and two touchdowns. The sophomore also threw for a score in a package that featured the powerful runner as an option QB.

"We were working all week (for their running game), but they trapped us and we didn't expect that," Karl said.

UT held the Razorbacks to only a field goal in the second half, but the Vols struggled offensively with freshman Jonathan Crompton making his first career start in the hostile environment in Fayetteville.

Crompton was 16-for-34 for 174 yards with an interception and a pair of touchdowns, but he was constantly pressured and sacked four times.

Robert Meachem hauled in his ninth touchdown of the season in the first half, and senior Bret Smith wrapped up the scoring with a 39-yard scoring grab late in the fourth quarter.

"We lost ... that is what's running through my head," Smith said. "The better team won tonight.

"We defended the way they did in practice and couldn't execute (tonight). After the first half, I thought we would come back out and my mindset was it could be another LSU (in 2005). We just weren't executing our offense."

GAME 11 - VANDERBILT

Nov. 18, 2006

TENNESSEE 39 VANDERBILT 10

NASHVILLE - Coach Phillip Fulmer expects to win every game - perhaps even more so against Tennessee's in-state rival.

After his team didn't meet Fulmer's expectations for the first time in his career a year ago - the only loss against Vanderbilt in 13 previous meetings - the Vols were anxious to return their one-sided rivalry back to normal.

After 364 days of waiting, UT went back to status quo with a dominating 39-10 win over the Commodores at Vanderbilt Stadium.

"We approach every game as though it is the most important game and we expect to win every game that we play," Fulmer said. "There has not been a single game since I have been here at Tennessee that I have not expected to win. So whether it is Vanderbilt or Florida or Georgia, we expect to win. That is why people come to Tennessee."

The win ended Vanderbilt's short reign over bragging rights and halted a two-game losing streak for the Vols. Quarterback Erik Ainge was absent from the line-up for all but one quarter during the short slump, and his return from an ankle injury sparked a busy day for the UT offense.

The junior signal-caller said was accurate and efficient, connecting on 21-of-26 attempts for 266 yards with touchdown passes to senior Jayson Swain and junior Biletnikoff Award candidate Robert Meachem.

"It was very nice to have Erik back," Swain said. "(And) the receivers stepped up and took the challenge that was at hand. Coach (Taylor) Trooper said we were going to have to make big plays, and we made big plays."

So, too, did the oft-maligned UT running game. Freshman LaMarcus Coker broke off another highlight-reel scoring run - an 87-yard scamper to go with his 89-yarder earlier this season - and finished with two touchdowns and 126 yards on just 10 carries.

The Vols offense was racing from the opening kickoff and only slowed after the game was put well out of reach early in the fourth quarter. Meachem's score made it 36-7 with just less than 14 minutes left to play, effectively putting the wraps on another banner offensive day for the Vols and offensive coordinator David Cutcliffe.

GAME 12 - KENTUCKY

Nov. 25, 2006

TENNESSEE 17 KENTUCKY 12

KNOXVILLE - It wasn't pretty or easy, but the result was the same.

Kentucky led going into the fourth quarter, but Tennessee took control of the one-sided rivalry with a LaMarcus Coker dive into the end zone and a late defensive stand to earn its 22nd consecutive win over the Wildcats with a 17-12 victory at Neyland Stadium.

"I compliment Kentucky," said UT head coach Phillip Fulmer, who improved to 14-0 against the Wildcats. "I don't remember this series or this game ever being easy.

"Today was an example of (Kentucky's) defense taking the challenge. They're to be commended."

After the Vols jumped out to a 10-point lead in the first quarter after Erik Ainge hooked up with Robert Meachem for his 11th touchdown of the season, Kentucky tightened up on defense and chipped away at UT on offense.

"I didn't think we played very well," said Ainge, who finished 19-for-33 for 240 yards and the touchdown toss. "We won and that's all that matters. There was either a miscue with a route, a miscue with a throw or protection, but there was (always) something that went wrong to stop ourselves. Credit Kentucky's defense. They played well, they played hard and they gave it to us."

The Wildcats led 12-10 heading into the final frame, but Coker's plunge provided the winning margin for the Vols and the UT defense twice turned away Kentucky on fourth-down in the closing minutes to lock up second place in the SEC Eastern Division.

"Our defense did a fantastic job in the second half," Fulmer said. "Our team played hard, but not particularly well.

"But, we've got nine wins. I've been on the other side of that coin, when we played well and didn't win."

The Vols defense played its best when UT needed it most to claim that ninth win.

Senior Turk McBride wrapped up Rafael Little for a loss on 4th-and-3 with just less than 11 minutes to play to stuff a late Kentucky scoring drive inside the UT 30-yard line to keep the second-half shutout alive, and the Vols held the Wildcats scoreless in the closing minutes after facing 1st-and-goal from the 6-yard line.

The Wildcats moved the ball well for the most part against the Vols, but UT gave up just one touchdown in five red zone trips to help keep the winning streak alive.

"We just picked each other up and got the stops we needed (on the final drive)," senior linebacker Marvin Mitchell said.

GAME 13 - PENN STATE (OUTBACK BOWL)

Jan. 1, 2007

PENN STATE 20 TENNESSEE 10

TAMPA, Fla. - Three Tennessee turnovers led to 10 Penn State points and kept the Vols to their lowest scoring output of the season in a 20-10 loss at the Outback Bowl.

The Vols appeared poised to take command of a 10-10 game early in the fourth quarter when quarterback Erik Ainge hit tight end Chris Brown for a 53-yard pass play to the Nittany Lions' 14-yard line. But Penn State linebacker Dan Connor's tackle on tailback Arian Foster caused a fumble that Tony Davis picked up and raced 88 yards for the clinching touchdown with 10:01 to play.

It was the longest defensive score against the Vols in UT bowl history.

"It comes down to a few plays, always, in the game," UT head coach Phillip Fulmer said. "Everybody will want to point to the fumble, and that obviously was a very big one. But there were a lot of plays during the course of the ballgame that could have made a difference."

UT had tied the contest late in the first half when tailback LaMarcus Coker raced 42 yards for a touchdown on his first rushing attempt of the game. The Vols tried only 23 rushing plays for the afternoon, their second fewest in bowl history.

Penn State, meanwhile, handed off to tailback Tony Hunt 31 times for 158 yards. Hunt earned game MVP honors and his rushing totals were the most carries and third-most yards against UT in a bowl game.

"You play against Joe Paterno's football teams, they're going to be tough, they're going to disciplined, they're going to be able to run the football," Fulmer said. The Vols had three turnovers in the game to none for Penn State."

Ainge completed 25-of-37 passes for 267 yards, including career highs of seven passes each to Brown and Jayson Swain. Brown finished with 66 receiving yards, also a career best, while Swain tallied 84 to close a fine career.

The Vols took a 3-0 lead in the first quarter on James Wilhoit's 44-yard field goal. Wilhoit added an extra-point later in the game and finished his outstanding tenure at UT with 325 points, good enough for second on Tennessee's all-time list.

Penn State answered with 10 straight points on a field goal by Kevin Kelly and a 2-yard pass from Anthony Morelli to Andrew Quarless. That play capped a 92-yard drive in eight plays that was Penn State's longest for the season in terms of distance.

The Manning Scholarship covers the costs of tuition, room and board for a male or female student. The award is granted to a first-year student on the basis of academic achievement, leadership and community service.

Gen. Robert Reese NEYLAND

Feb. 17, 1892 – March 28, 1962

The history and tradition of Tennessee football began under the tutelage of Gen. Robert Reese Neyland, a member of the College Football Hall of Fame. Neyland came to Tennessee as an ROTC instructor and backfield coach in 1925 and was named head football coach in 1926. From that date, Tennessee was in the college football business to stay.

Neyland's 1939 Vol team was the last to shut out each of its regular season opponents. Over the course of his career, 112 of his 216 opponents failed to score against his Tennessee teams. Tennessee still holds an NCAA record for holding opponents scoreless 71 consecutive quarters.

Neyland's teams won Southern Conference championships in 1927 and 1932, piling up undefeated streaks of 33 and 28 games along the way, and SEC championships in 1938, 1939, 1940, 1946 and 1951. In addition, Neyland-coached teams won four national championships. The Vols were consensus national champions in 1951, won the Dunkel, Litkenhous, Boand, Houlgate and Poling national championships in 1938, the Dunkel and Williamson crowns in 1940 and the DeVold and Dunkel crowns in 1950.

It was Gene McEver who kicked off the Neyland era with his 98-yard return of the opening kickoff in the 1928 Alabama game, a game the underdog Vols won 15-13. Each of Neyland's succeeding eras would be highlighted by similar big plays: Johnny Butler's 56-yard run against Alabama in 1939 and Hank Lauricella's 75-yard run against Texas in the 1951 Cotton Bowl.

Neyland's 21-year record at Tennessee was 173 wins, 31 losses and 12 ties.

Neyland, who came to Tennessee as an Army captain and left as a brigadier general, brought one of the most efficient single-wing offenses in the country to go with an unyielding defense. He was assigned to the head coaching position by Dean Nathan Dougherty with a single injunction: "Do something about the series with Vanderbilt."

After Neyland's death in 1962, the University established the Robert R. Neyland Scholarship, academic scholarships awarded to non-athletes, many of whom are National Merit Scholars. The endowment for these scholarships now exceeds $4 million and 184 students have been the beneficiary of the awards.

The thoroughfare behind the stadium's south end, once called the river road, is now named Neyland Drive. More recently, the Vol football complex on campus was named for Neyland and Knoxville businessman B. Ray Thompson.

GENERAL NEYLAND'S MAXIMS of Football

1. The team that makes the fewest mistakes will win.
2. Play for and make the breaks and when one comes your way – SCORE.
3. If at first the game – or the breaks – go against you, don't let up … put on more steam.
4. Protect our kickers, our QB, our lead and our ball game.
5. Ball, oskie, cover, block, cut and slice, pursue and gang tackle … for this is the WINNING EDGE.
6. Press the kicking game. Here is where the breaks are made.
7. Carry the fight to our opponent and keep it there for 60 minutes.

Quarterback Erik Ainge snapped Peyton Manning's school record for season completion percentage, finishing the 2006 campaign with a 67.0 success rate.

Last season, LaMarcus Coker turned in two of the four longest runs from scrimmage in UT history. Included was an 89-yarder against Marshall that helped him break a 44-year-old record for yards per carry in a game.

1894 AND 1895 THE LOST YEARS NO OFFICIAL TEAM

In October 1894, the Athletic Association resolved to drop varsity football and look forward to baseball in the spring. After the humiliating 1893 season (two wins and four imposing defeats), only two athletes willing to admit they had played on the 1893 team returned to campus in 1894. To complicate matters further, the practice field, located just west of the main entrance to the Hill, was being graded and improved.

Soon after this decision, W.B. Stokely, a UT senior who transferred from Wake Forest, persuaded a group of students to form a team. Stokely, who was elected captain, gave encouragement and direction to the other players. Even though the institution chose not to be represented officially on the gridiron, Stokely and his unofficial team kept football interest alive during this period when almost certainly it otherwise would have been allowed to lapse completely.

Listed below are games in which these teams competed. These unofficial games are not included in NCAA statistics or in official University of Tennessee won-lost records.

1917 AND 1918 WORLD WAR I NO OFFICIAL TEAMS

The University of Tennessee Athletic Council, chaired by Professor Nathan W. Dougherty, officially suspended varsity football during the World War I years of 1917 and 1918 because the majority of the players were called into military service. In addition, Coach John R. Bender was enlisted as an instructor at Camp John Sevier in Greenville, S.C.

During this period without varsity football, two unofficial teams were formed from Army recruits and students. One team represented a training unit called the Fighting Mechanics and another the Student Army Training Corps (SATC).

R.R. NEYLAND (1946-52)

General Neyland's retirement from military service enabled him to devote full time to coaching and building one of the most powerful programs in the nation. He produced the national championship team in 1951 and took the Vols to three straight major bowl appearances. Poor health in 1952 forced his retirement to athletic director, a position he held until his death in 1962. He was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1956. His record for this period was 54-17-4.

Coaching record: 173-31-12.

NCAA Overtime Rules

The NCAA tiebreaker system established in 1996 will be used when a game is tied after four periods. NCAA football-playing rules apply. The officials will escort the captains (Rule 3-1-1) to the center of the field for the coin toss. The referee shall toss a coin at mid-field in the presence of no more than four field captains from each team and another game official, first designating the field captain of the visiting team to call the coin toss. The winner of the toss shall choose one of the following options:

1. Offense or defense, with the offense at the opponent's 25-yard line to start the first series.
2. Which end of the field shall be used for both series of that overtime period.

Note: The winner of the toss may not defer his choice.

The loser of the toss shall exercise the remaining option for the first extra period and shall have the first choice of the two options for subsequent even-numbered extra periods. An extra period shall consist of two series with each team putting the ball in play by a snap at the designated 25-yard line. Each team retains the ball during a series until it scores or fails to make a first down.

The team scoring the greater number of points during the regulation and extra periods shall be declared the winner. There shall be an equal number of series in each extra period, except if one team scores during a period other than on the try. Beginning with the third extra period, teams scoring a touchdown must attempt a two-point try.

Tennessee Bowl History Paved With Opportunities, Big Plays, National Championship Scenarios

When bowl matchmakers begin the mental calculations leading toward their annual holiday events, Tennessee is one of a select group of universities that always receives thoughtful consideration.

Under Phillip Fulmer, the Vols consistently provide an exciting bowl-game spectacle with high-powered offense and grudging defense. But that's just one of many reasons Tennessee is a bowl promoter's dream.

UT's other irresistible lure is its legions of fans, a collection of devoted supporters who bathe a neutral bowl site in a sea of orange worthy of a game at Neyland Stadium. The Vol faithful are good travelers who arrive at the game site early and make themselves seen and heard until they leave town.

Tennessee has appeared in 45 bowl games, of which a couple stand out as particularly memorable because of the bearing they had on producing two of the school's national championships.

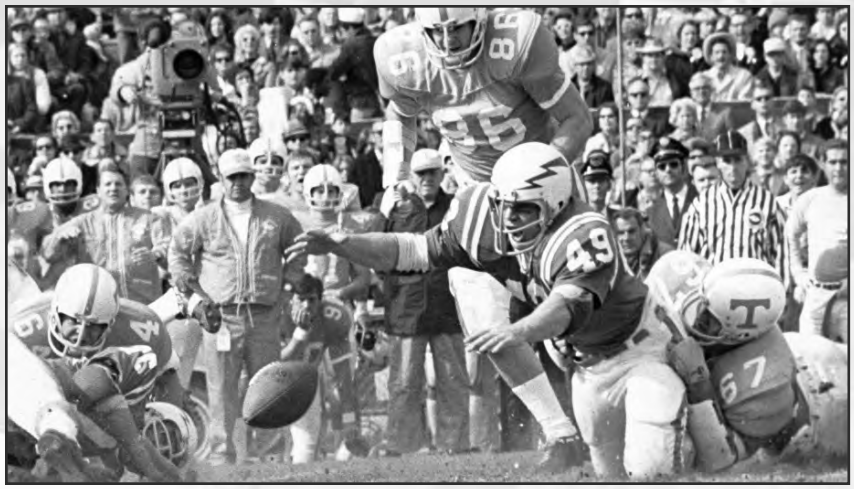
In the early years of wire service polls, the national champion was selected at the end of the regular season. Bowl results were not part of the evaluation process. But Tennessee's Cotton Bowl victory over Texas after the 1950 season was invaluable in paving the way for the crown UT claimed in 1951.

The 20-14 upset of the Longhorns in Dallas on New Year's Day made the Vols the team to beat going into the next season. When the curtain fell on the 1951 campaign, Tennessee had ridden the momentum of its Cotton Bowl triumph to the national title as awarded by both wire service polls.

Forty-seven years later, a bowl game was crucial to another UT national championship claim. In the first officially sanctioned Bowl Championship Series title game, the Vols met Florida State in a matchup of the two top-ranked teams at the close of the season.

Led by the passing of quarterback Tee Martin, the Vols capped an undefeated season by turning back the Seminoles, 23-16, before a capacity crowd at the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl in Tempe, Ariz. National championship pandemonium reigned throughout the night at any place Vol fans were gathered.

The significance of bowl games is in the eye of the individual, however, so you can pick among two dozen UT victories for your favorites. Certainly some of the other leaders would include: 1939 Orange Bowl (Vols 17, Oklahoma 0), 1965 Bluebonnet Bowl (Vols 27, Tulsa 6), 1971 Liberty Bowl (Vols 14, Arkansas 13), 1986 Sugar Bowl (Vols 35, Miami 7), 1990 Cotton Bowl (Vols 31, Arkansas 27), 1996 Citrus Bowl (Vols 20, Ohio State 14), 2002 Citrus Bowl (Vols 45, Michigan 17) and 2005 Cotton Bowl (Vols 38, Texas A&M 7).



The 1970 Volunteers defense thwarted the Air Force offense time after time, holding the Falcons to minus-12 yards rushing, grabbing four interceptions and recovering four fumbles on the way to a 34-13 win in the 1971 Sugar Bowl. Tennessee head coach Phillip Fulmer was an offensive guard on the UT team.

Peerless Price's 79-yard touchdown reception put the finishing touches on the Vols' 23-16 win over Florida State in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl and capped a 13-0 season for the 1998 national championship.

Retired Numbers

The 2005 ceremonies to retire the jerseys of Doug Atkins (91), Peyton Manning (16) and Reggie White (92) brought the list of retired jersey numbers at Tennessee to seven. This includes the four former Vol players who died in World War II and had their jerseys retired in 1946.

In 2005, Tennessee instituted criteria to retire additional numbers. Those criteria include, but are not limited to: candidates must be recognized as good citizens and have a minimum of five years between the candidate's UT football career and consideration of this honor. A candidate must have achieved three of the following five collegiate honors: induction into the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame, Southeastern Conference (SEC) Player of the Year, Consensus All-America, Heisman Trophy winner, and have won one of the following general athletic/academic or non-position specific awards: Sullivan Award, SEC Athlete of the Year (all sports) or Draddy Award.

Doug Atkins (91) is considered by many to be the greatest defensive end in football history. After originally signing with UT on a basketball scholarship, Atkins went on to gridiron All-America status in 1952, was the only player to be unanimously named to the All-SEC Quarter Century Team (1950-74) and was selected SEC Player of the Quarter Century. Atkins retired with the most NFL games played (205) by a defensive lineman. The Vols went 29-3-1 with Adkins on the field and won the 1951 national championship.

Peyton Manning (16) is the most decorated athlete in UT history. He left Tennessee as the SEC's all-time leading passer with 11,201 yards, setting 42 passing records during his Vols career that included two NCAA, seven SEC and 33 UT marks. Off the field, Manning won the Draddy Award as National Scholar-Athlete of the Year in 1997 and graduated in three years with a degree in speech communications. He graduated with the highest grade-point average (3.61) in his field. During his pro career, Manning has earned Pro Bowl honors six times in his eight seasons played and was named NFL MVP for the 2004 and 2005 seasons. He threw an NFL-record 49 touchdown passes in 2004 and already has 244 for his career. Manning's career total of 33,189 passing yards stands 20th on the NFL all-time list.

Reggie White (92), who died Dec. 26, 2004, at the age of 43, collected a school-record 32 sacks in his four years with the Vols to establish himself as the most prolific pass rusher in Tennessee history. Fifteen of those sacks came in his senior year of 1983, a campaign current Vols head coach Phillip Fulmer called the "most individually dominant season I've ever seen." Known as the "Minister of Defense," White went on to a 17-year pro football career, retiring as the NFL's all-time sack leader with 198. He was elected to the College Football Hall of Fame in 2002. He graduated from the University of Tennessee in 1990.

Ceremonies were held during the 2006 UT-Air Force game to officially memorialize the four players killed in World War II. Those individuals, listed below, had their jerseys retired in 1946.

Clyde (Ig) Fuson (62) (March 11, 1923 — Dec. 4, 1944), a native of Middlesboro, Ky., and fullback on the 1942 team, shared playing time with Nowling. Ig had a younger brother, Herschel (Ug) Fuson, who was a freshman on the 1942 team and transferred to West Point, from where he graduated.

Rudy Klarer (49) (March 9, 1923 — Jan. 6, 1945) was a reserve guard in 1941 and starter in 1942, from Louisville, Ky.

Bill Nowling (32) (Aug. 8, 1920 — Aug. 9, 1944), a fullback 1940-42, from St. Petersburg, Fla., was a three-year starter under Gen. Robert R. Neyland and John Barnhill.

Willis Tucker (61) (May 10, 1918 — Nov. 28, 1944), a graduate of Knoxville High School, earned a Vol football letter in 1940 and was a sprint star on the track and field team.

TENNESSEE TRADITIONS

About the 'T' – The famed letter "T" debuted on Tennessee's helmets in 1964 as Doug Dickey assumed the coaching reins. Johnny Majors had the 'T' slightly redesigned when he was named head coach in 1977. Dickey also brought another Tennessee tradition to life when he started the Vols running through a giant "T' formed by the band.

Pride of the Southland Band – The UT "Pride of the Southland Band" was organized immediately after the Civil War. Since then, enrollment in the band program has grown to more than 400 students. Director of Bands, Dr. Gary Sousa, heads up a program that has maintained a long-standing reputation as one of the nation's finest musical organizations. The band first marched in a 6-0 victory over Sewanee in 1902. In 1969 "The Pride" formed and opened the "T" against Army in another Vol victory.

School Colors – The colors Orange and White were selected by Charles Moore, a member of the first football team in 1891, and later were approved by a vote of the student body. The colors were those of the common American daisy which grew in profusion on The Hill. Tennessee players did not appear in the now-famous Orange jerseys until the season opening game in 1922.

Checkerboard End Zones – The unique design accompanied coach Doug Dickey's arrival in 1964 when the Vols played Boston College. The colorful and popular end zones were a part of Tennessee football until 1968 when the natural sod was dug out and artificial turf was put in its place. The tradition was reinstated with the new artificial turf in 1989 and has continued with the transformation to natural grass in 1994. The checkerboard end zones also now appear on the basketball court at Thompson-Boling Arena and for volleyball matches at Stokely Center.

Vol Navy – Former Vol broadcaster George Mooney found a quicker way to get to Neyland Stadium in 1962 other than fighting the Knoxville traffic. Mooney navigated his little runabout down the Tennessee River to the stadium and spawned what would later become the "Vol Navy." Tennessee and Washington are the only institutions with football stadiums adjacent to bodies of water.

Rocky Top – Felice and Boudleaux Bryant's "Rocky Top," – written in 10 minutes at the Gatlinburg Inn in 1967 – has captured the fancy of Vol fans everywhere and is a much-requested and much-played song at UT sporting events. First performed as part of a halftime country music show at the 1972 Tennessee-Alabama game, the song attracted so much attention and is so beloved that long-time UT band director W.J. Julian said that not playing it would cause a mutiny among Vol fans.

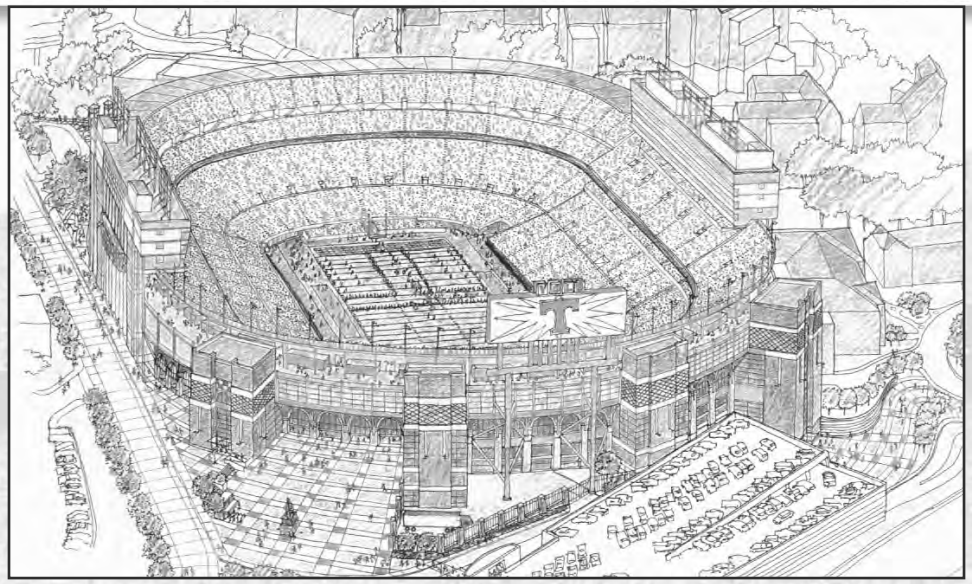
Neyland Stadium Master Plan



The University of Tennessee Athletics Department completed Phase I of the renovations on Neyland Stadium in August 2006. This was the first major addition to occur at Neyland Stadium since the addition of the east skyboxes for the 1999 season.

Although many of the first phase improvements are not visible to fans -- such as much needed improvements to basic infrastructure amenities such as water, electric and sewer throughout the stadium -- fans can see examples of what the full project will do for the stadium in the concourse areas near gate 21, which will feature wider concourses, new and renovated restrooms as well as new concession stands for the 2006 season.

Phase I also included the addition of the East Club, which is a primary funding source for the renovations. The East Club features 414 outdoor theater-style seats under cover, a large adjoining indoor hospitality club room with private restrooms, pre-game and half-time buffets, tables and couches for relaxing and several flat screen televisions to catch up on other games from across the SEC and nation.

Prior to the 2007 season, UT will be adding new LED signage to the inside of the stadium. Phase II of the Neyland Stadium Master Plan will begin following the 2007 season and will include renovations to the first level concourse on the west sidelines, including new restrooms and concessions; field level improvements and the addition of a Lettermen's Club at field level.

Tennessee has already secured revenue to cover $47.42 million of the Neyland Stadium project. This includes $16.6 million in outright contributions, $14.28 million from donations for the club seats sold on the east and west sidelines and debt service capital of $16.54 million, which is covered by annual donations for those club seats.

"Neyland Stadium holds a special place in the hearts of Tennessee fans everywhere. Over the past 80 years, it has grown to become one of America's greatest football stadiums," said Mike Hamilton, men's athletics director. "I believe these renovations will enhance the fan experience for years to come."

In November 2004, UTAD unveiled its master plan for Neyland Stadium, which will serve as a long-term solution to issues currently facing Neyland Stadium and prepare the stadium for the next 75 years.

"When beginning the research and design for Neyland Stadium, we took into account the heritage of Tennessee football to distinguish our top priorities," said Hamilton. "We wanted to maintain the collegiate integrity of the stadium, take a fiscally responsible approach to renovations, improve and modernize concourses, bathrooms and concession areas for all UT fans, provide infrastructure for basic amenities, and enhance safety while addressing the ADA compliance issues currently facing the stadium."

Renovations will be completed in five phases and should take take approximately eight to 12 years to complete, provided funding is available.

Before beginning the master plan, UTAD visited six stadiums across the country similar in age to Neyland. The department also received feedback from more than 3,000 fans through an online survey.

Numerous ADA issues also have been addressed to improve access for all fans, including the addition of nine elevators.

The master plan was created in a phased approach. Each phase is independent to ensure that funding is available for each phase before it begins.

Thanks to generous donors and fans, Tennessee has already secured private funding to cover $68 million of the Neyland Stadium Master Plan renovations. This includes $31 million in leadership gifts and club seat campaign contributions. In addition, new revenue from annual donations will serve $37 million in long-term bonds.

The long-term master plan will improve the Neyland Stadium experience for all fans while enhancing safety and security. The improvements include:

- Renovation and widening of concourse areas to assist in traffic flow and make fans' experience more enjoyable;
- Addition of family restrooms;
- Increase in the current number of women's restroom facilities by almost 300 percent;
- Addition of concession stands;
- Creation of entry plazas;
- Addition of club seats; and
- Update of the infrastructure for water, electric and sewer systems.

The University of Tennessee athletics department is one of less than 10 departments in the country that receives no funds from state subsidies or taxes.

NEYLAND STADIUM

NEYLAND STADIUM/SHIELDS-WATKINS FIELD: The present day Neyland Stadium, Shields-Watkins Field had its beginning in 1919. Col. W.S. Shields, president of Knoxville's City National Bank and a UT trustee, provided the initial capital to prepare and equip an athletic field. Thus, when the field was completed in March 1921 it was called Shields-Watkins field, in honor of the donor and his wife, Alice Watkins-Shields.The stadium, apart from the field it grew to enclose, came to bear its own distinguished name: Neyland Stadium. It was named for the man most responsible for the growth and development of Tennessee's proud football tradition. General Robert R. Neyland served as head coach from 1926 to 1952, with two interruptions for military service. After retiring from the coaching ranks, Neyland was athletic director until his death in 1962. He was the guiding force behind additions to the stadium's capacity, and is the one most responsible for the winning tradition that Volunteers fans have come to expect over the years.

CAPACITY: 102,038—Nation's fourth largest collegiate football stadium. Has under-gone 18 additions/renovations since West Stands were built in 1921, seating 3,200. Latest addition (East sideline club suites) completed in 2006.

VOLS IN THE POLLS

Since the inception of wire service polls, Tennessee has frequently placed among the nation's leaders in the national rankings. The Associated Press poll, which began in 1936, the United Press International poll, running from 1950 until 1991, and the CNN-USA Today poll lasting from 1982 until 1997, when it became the ESPN/USA Today poll, all reflect the lofty standings of the Vols in the eyes of coaches, sports writers and broadcasters. Tennessee won the 1951 and 1998 national championships in all polls and finished No. 2 in 1938, 1939, 1956, 1967 and 1995. The Vols have been awarded other national championships as determined by different points and ratings systems in effect at the time of the seasons. UT earned national titles in 1938 and 1940 according to both the Dunkel and Litkenhous Systems. The Vols were named national champs in 1950 by Dunkel and in 1967 by Litkenhous. The 1951 title was also honored by both the Litkenhous and Williamson Systems. The 1998 title was honored by all polls.

TENNESSEE AS NO. 1

Tennessee ended the 1951 and 1998 seasons ranked No. 1 in the major wire service polls. The 1998 Vols were crowned national champion by the Associated Press and ESPN/USA Today-Coaches poll, while the 1951 Vols were honored by both the AP and UPI polls. In addition, the Vols have held down the nation's top spot on 15 different occasions in the history of the weekly Associated Press poll and have a 15-0 mark in those games. UT's next game results after an AP No. 1 ranking are listed below.

TENNESSEE VS. NO. 1

In its 100 plus-year history, Tennessee has been involved in eight contests in which the Vols' opponent was ranked No. 1 in the country.

UT has a 2-6 all-time record when playing the nation's top-ranked team.

The most recent game between Tennessee and the No. 1 rated team was against Miami (Fla.) Nov. 9, 2002, in Knoxville.

The Vols' two victories against a No. 1 team have come against Southeastern Conference foes.

Tennessee, ranked No. 13, edged Louisiana State 14-13 Nov. 7, 1959, in Knoxville, to knock the Tigers out of the top spot.

On Sept. 28, 1985, the Vols, 0-0-1 and unranked at the time, soundly defeated top-rated Auburn 38-20 in Knoxville. The 1985 Vols went on to win the SEC Championship and finish No. 4 nationally in all polls.

LAST TIME IN THE POLLS

Throughout its history, the University of Tennessee football program has been a regular member of the Associated Press and, more recently, the ESPN/USA Today Coaches polls.

Below is a listing of the last time the Vols were ranked in a particular position in each poll.

Tennessee's last No. 1 ranking came at the end of the 1998 football season after Tennessee's 23-16 win over Florida State in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl Jan. 4, 1999.

The win garnered Tennessee the undisputed national championship thanks in part to the advent of the Bowl Championship Series, which matched the top two teams in the land in a fight for the national title.

Tennessee stopped Louisiana State's Billy Cannon just short of the end zone to preserve the Vols' 14-13 win against No. 1-ranked Louisiana State in 1959. This was the Vols' first victory against a No. 1-ranked opponent. Tennessee followed that with a 38-20 victory over No. 1 Auburn in 1985 for its only other victory over a top-ranked opponent.

FAR BETWEENS/STREAKS

Volunteer football teams have encountered some interesting games in the more than 100 years of gridiron combat. Some games have been one-sided with Tennessee both winning and losing by large margins.

Tennessee's largest victory margin came in 1905 as the Vols defeated American University 104-0. The 1915 team posted victories of 101-0 against both Carson-Newman and Cumberland Colleges. The 1893 team suffered the worst defeat at the hands of Duke, 70-0. That same Vols 11 suffered 64-0, 60-0 and 56-0 losses to Wake Forest, North Carolina and Kentucky, respectively.

The far betweens in Tennessee's modern football history (1937-Present) are a 68-0 victory against Tennessee Tech in 1951 and a 44-0 loss at the hands of Georgia in 1981.

Dr. John D. Petersen
University President

In President John Petersen's fourth year at the University of Tennessee, UT is enjoying positive momentum in enrollment, private support, economic development, and federal research funding.

Last year, Petersen presided over aggressive statewide fundraising efforts that resulted in $271 million, up from $157 million in 2005. UT also has benefited from federal grants related to the nation's priorities in homeland security, alternative fuel sources and emerging science and technologies.

Petersen and his staff have hammered out a university strategic plan that focuses on student access, student success, research and scholarship, outreach, economic development and globalization.

Petersen is chairman of UT-Battelle, the partnership that manages Oak Ridge National Laboratory for the U.S. Department of Energy. He is closely engaged in maximizing the intellectual and economic benefits of the university's partnership with the nation's largest science and energy lab.

Petersen became the 23rd president of UT July 1, 2004. He was provost and executive vice president for academic affairs at Connecticut for four years before coming to Tennessee.

As president, he is the chief executive officer of the statewide UT system, which includes campuses at Knoxville, Chattanooga, and Martin; the Center for the Health Sciences in Memphis, and two statewide organizations, the Institute of Agriculture and the Institute for Public Service. He travels frequently to university campuses and offices throughout Tennessee, as well as speaking at numerous meetings of UT alumni and civic groups. He also is leading the planning for a major university-wide fund raising campaign.

Petersen's earlier career included experience at several public universities. Prior to his appointment at the University of Connecticut, he was dean of the College of Science and professor of chemistry at Wayne State University in Detroit, Michigan, from 1994 to 2000. Before that he was a faculty member, head of chemistry, and associate dean for research in the College of Sciences at Clemson University (1980-93) and assistant professor of chemistry at Kansas State University (1975-80).

Petersen received a Ph.D. in inorganic chemistry from the University of California at Santa Barbara and a B.S. in chemistry from California State. He and his wife, Carol, are the parents of two grown children, Melissa and Andrew.

Carol Petersen is a former teacher. Melissa is a graduate of UT's College of Law, while Andrew is in graduate school at the University of Connecticut.

Mike Hamilton
Director of Athletics

The steady leadership of men's director of athletics Mike Hamilton has the University of Tennessee Volunteers ranked among the nation's most respected and highly-regarded programs.

Since Hamilton accepted his current position in 2003, he has overseen competitiveness of Tennessee teams, graduation of student-athletes, compliance with NCAA and SEC rules, strong financial management, and the growth of the athletics department's service to the university and community.

In Hamilton's three most recent years as athletics director, Tennessee twice has finished in the top 10 of the Director's Cup all-sports standings. The Vols brought home SEC titles during spring 2007 in golf and outdoor track and field and the athletics department saw 19 of its 20 varsity teams compete in postseason play last year.

The on-field and on-court products continue to be the nation's No. 1 draw, as Tennessee remains the only NCAA school to finish among the top five attendance leaders in football, men's basketball and women's basketball in the same season. The Vols and Lady Vols turned the trick for the fourth time in 2006-07.

Also during the last academic year, 75 Vols and Lady Vols graduated from the University of Tennessee, continuing Tennessee athletics' commitment to excellence in the classroom. UTAD currently is working with more than 20 former student-athletes who left UT to pursue professional athletic careers and returned to finish their degrees through the Renewing Academic Commitment (RAC) Program out of the Thornton Center.

A major focus for Hamilton is ensuring UT has the facilities it needs for its student-athletes and coaches to compete for championships. In the fall of 2004, Hamilton unveiled a master plan to prepare Neyland Stadium for the next 75 years. One key goal of the master plan was to find a way to fund the renovations without financially impacting the general fan. The renovations will be completed in five phases during the off-seasons to alleviate inconveniences on fans. Phase 1, which included the expansion of the lower north concourse with new restrooms and concessions, infrastructure improvements and the addition of the East Club, was completed for the 2006 season. Hamilton is also focused on other facility projects such as the Allan Jones Intercollegiate Aquatic Center, Regal Soccer Stadium, Lee Softball Stadium, Pratt Pavilion Basketball Practice Facility as well as improvements to Thompson-Boling Arena and Lindsey Nelson Stadium, which should all be completed during the 2007-08 school year.

Hamilton has initiated these major facility campaigns while still reducing expenses to ensure that the University of Tennessee can continue to be one of the few athletics departments in the country that receives no funds from state subsidies or taxes. The only non-athletic department generated revenue is a $1 million contribution to women's athletics from student fees. During his tenure, the reserve fund for athletics has grown by approximately $4 million, and the overall budget for athletics has grown from $59 million in FY 2003 to $79.46 million in FY 2008. Giving to athletics has also grown substantially under Hamilton, from $20.6 million in fiscal year 2003 to $33 million in fiscal year 2007.

Since Hamilton's arrival at UT in 1992, more than $261 million has been raised for athletics.

While Hamilton is focused on ensuring the financial viability of athletics, he is also committed to giving back to the University. Last year, the athletics department contributed more than $25 million back to the university in some fashion, including $1.375 million in academic scholarships for non-student athletes, $500,000 for the Pride of the Southland Marching Band, and $1.125 million for annual debt service on five University parking garages as well as approximately $11.99 million in athletic benefits to University employees and students through free or reduced rate tickets to sporting events, licensing revenue, and tickets for the University alumni association fundraising purposes.

Hamilton previously served as Senior Associate Athletics Director for External Operations, earning that promotion in September 2002, and has been on the UT staff since 1992.

The 44-year-old Hamilton, who grew up in Brevard, N.C., served as assistant director of the Deacon Club at Wake Forest University before joining the Vols staff in 1992. He earlier had served as a graduate assistant in fundraising at his alma mater, Clemson University, where he earned both a bachelor's of science in accounting and a master's in business administration.

Hamilton was honored in the spring of 1998 when the National Association of Athletic Development Directors named him National Fundraiser of the Year. In 2006 he was name to the NCAA Academics, Eligibility and Compliance Cabinet.

Hamilton is chairman-elect of the Knox Area Chamber Partnership and serves on the board of directors of the Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame. He and his wife Beth are founders of the Mike and Beth Hamilton Celebrity Golf Classic, which has raised more than $175,000 for adoption services for Bethany Christian Services.

Hamilton and his wife, the former Elizabeth Merrill, also from Brevard, are parents of a daughter, Madison, and a son, Matthew.

Birth of a Nickname

Even before Tennessee became a state, the residents were quick to respond. John Sevier and other "overmountain men" volunteered during the Revolutionary War and were key factors in the battle of King's Mountain in October 1780.

Although newspapers published during the War of 1812 do not specifically use the term "Volunteer State" when referring to Tennessee, there are numerous references to "the volunteers from Tennessee" or "the Tennessee Volunteers."

Newspapers referred to Tennessee as the "Volunteer State" during the Mexican War after Gov. Aaron Brown issued a call in May 1846 requesting 2,800 volunteers for military service and 30,000 responded.

A UT athletics team was dubbed the Volunteers for the first time in 1902 by the Atlanta Constitution following a UT-Georgia Tech football game. The Knoxville Journal and Tribune did not use the name until 1905. By the fall of 1905 both the Journal and the Knoxville Sentinel were using the nickname.

Alma Mater

The alma mater was selected as a result of a 1928 contest sponsored by Prof. L.S. Mayer of the UT men's glee club. All students, faculty members and alumni or members of their families throughout the state were eligible to compete for the $50 prize. The song, both music and words, had to be original and of high standard. The winner was Mrs. John Meek of Chattanooga, formerly Mary Fleming of Knoxville. The decision was announced at the Alumni banquet at the Farragut Hotel Oct. 26, 1928.

Spirit Teams and Mascots

Cheerleading, dance, and mascot programs have made great strides in the last 16 years under the direction of head coach Joy Postell-Gee and quickly have joined the ranks of the elite programs in the nation. In January of 2007 the dance team won its first national championship. Tennessee was also the only program in the nation to place in the top five in the country in cheer, dance and mascot.

Although academics are a priority for the spirit members, last season they supported more 160 athletics and sporting functions and in addition, represented the university at more than 180 philanthropic events.

Perhaps the most prestigious honor bestowed recently upon the UT spirit program was Universal Cheerleader Association National Spirit Award, which was named in honor of the late Col. Gene Moeller, a former assistant athletics director at Tennessee.

The first recipient of this honor was Postell-Gee.

The school mascots, Smokey, Jr. Smokey and the Volunteer, are regular sights at all sporting events. Smokey won back-to-back UCA National Championships in 2000 and 2001 and placed in the top five every year between 1999-2006. Four of the last five years, Smokey has been a part of the Capital One All-American Mascot Team.

"Pride of the Southland" Marching Band

Recognized as one of the most prestigious college marching bands in the United States, the "Pride" energizes the UT campus, the state of Tennessee, and fans around the world during the fall semester, with its powerful 300-member sound and showmanship. In addition to performing at all home football games, the band performs at many away games, bowl games, presidential inaugurations, and at selected marching band exhibitions. The band has made over 40 bowl appearances and has represented the State of Tennessee at the last 11 Presidential Inaugurations. The band made its first recorded appearance at a football game in 1902 performing at the home game against Sewanee. The marching band is currently under the stewardship of Dr. Gary Sousa who is entering his 11th football season at the helm.

Smokey

In 1953, the campus Pep Club sponsored a contest to have a live mascot. The hound was chosen since it is a native breed and its small stature and loud baying represent a unique combination.

The Rev. William C. Brooks entered his prize-winning bluetick coonhound, which won over the other eight contestants. Smokey was the last hound to be introduced at the halftime contest. When his name was called out, he barked. The students cheered and Smokey threw his head back and howled again and UT had its new mascot.

He is looked after by two student trainers from Alpha Gamma Rho, a national agricultural fraternity.

VOL NETWORK

In the fall of 1949, Tennessee football games were first broadcast on what is known today as the Vol Radio Network. Legendary UT coach General Robert R. Neyland gave the Network its name and hall of fame broadcaster Lindsey Nelson served as the first play-by-play announcer. Over the years, the Network has grown into one of the nation's largest and most respected collegiate radio and TV networks.

2007 Vol Network Broadcast Team

Entering his ninth season, Bob Kesling is the play-by-play voice of Tennessee football on radio and the host of "Vol Calls" and "The Phillip Fulmer TV Show". He is a four-time recipient of the "Sportscaster of the Year" award for the state of Tennessee.

Former All-SEC defensive back Tim Priest serves as the Network's color analyst. An Academic All-American who starred from 1968-70, Priest is still UT's all-time pass interceptions leader with 18.

Former Vol quarterback Jeff Francis (1985-88) serves as sideline reporter. Francis ranks fourth on UT's all-time passing charts and was MVP of the 1986 Liberty Bowl.

Studio host John Wilkerson along with Brent Hubbs, Chip Kain, Mike Stowell and Will Overstreet contribute to coverage that begins 90-minutes prior to every game with the "Kickoff Call-In Show".

VOL CALLS

The Vol Network's weekly prime time call-in show "Vol Calls" featuring Coach Phillip Fulmer airs statewide every Monday night from 8-9 p.m. ET / 7-8 p.m. CT. The show originates live from the Texas Roadhouse in west Knoxville.

BIG ORANGE COUNTDOWN

New for 2007, the Vol Network will launch a new Thursday night football preview show called "Big Orange Countdown" from 8-9 p.m. ET/7-8 p.m. CT.

UTSPORTS.COM

The University of Tennessee boasts one of the nation's best and most-viewed collegiate Web sites - UTSports.com. This year, UT will be combining with Host Interactive to bring fans an updated Web site that features a new look with an increased commitment to video content.

Before you visit UT for a big game, be sure to check out the game day activities to find out what is going on prior to the games. After the game, check back for game stats, video highlights and audio clips from coaches and players.

UTSports.com is also your best source for information for everything Orange. Check out Vols in the NFL, All-Americas and Signing Day. Don't forget to view features like Neyland Stadium construction updates and monthly desktop wallpapers.

UT's storied history also is detailed on the Web site, as you can research eras gone by. You also can view entire media guides right from your computer.
